College enters final Hearst round

MOVING ON

Beaulieu-Dishman heads to Foundation

Marlene Beaulieu-Dishman leaves the College Thursday to serve as administrative assistant to UF Foundation Vice President Carter Boydston.

"She is an ideal choice," Dean Terry Hynes said.

"She has demonstrated during her 10+ years in the College her competence in every assigned responsibility, her ability to take initiative in carrying out her assignments, her willingness to take on new projects, and her general service orientation, among many other strengths."

NEW HIRE

Telecom hires Online News lecturer

Lauren Hertel, who plans to receive her master's in journalism from the University of California, Berkeley, in May, will join the Department of Telecommunication faculty as Online News lecturer.

"The search committee did an outstanding job in identifying candidates and selling our program to Lauren," Dave Ostroff said. "Congratulations and thanks to Sandy Dickson, Cara Pilson, Mark Leeps, Johanna Cleary, and Mindy McAdams."
