Course Purpose

The purpose of this course is to ensure you have sufficient skill in grammar and punctuation to write with clarity and precision. This is applied grammar and punctuation. You won't have to define an intransitive verb, but you will need to understand how a comma can change the meaning of a sentence.

The course covers only grammar and punctuation. It does not cover spelling. And it does not cover style, such as whether to abbreviate August or capitalize president as a title.

This summer, the publisher of iFixit.com wrote that he administers a grammar test to everyone who seeks a job with his Internet publishing site – and he rejects anyone who cannot pass it. Those who have solid grammar and punctuation skills have an advantage in the marketplace.

Any Gator Can Take This Course

This class is a prerequisite for enrollment in JOU 3101, reporting. The course was created in the fall of 2011 to give students enrolling in reporting a better foundation in grammar and spelling before entering a stressful skills class.

The course also is useful for any UF student in any major who wants to improve his or her job prospects in careers that value writing or who desires a better foundation for graduate school. The course does not presume you know anything about journalism or public relations.

Course Focus

At the heart of this course is a grammar and punctuation test. You will be able to take the test thrice during the semester. All the teaching in the course is designed to help you pass that test. Everything on the tests is covered in class.

Textbooks

No textbooks are required for this course. I have written a guide to grammar and punctuation that is available free for you on Sakai so you don't have to buy a textbook.

If you are a journalism or a public relations student, however, other courses in our college require two books that would be helpful for you in this class. One is "When Words Collide" by Lauren Kessler and Duncan McDonald, currently in its eighth edition. This book is targeted for journalists and is useful for any writer. The other book is the Associated Press Stylebook, which is updated annually. It can be purchased as a book, a subscription website or an iPhone app. The punctuation guide at the end of the book is especially helpful in this course.

Course Grade Options

You have two possible tracks for a grade in this course.

Quick Track allows you to count the score of Test 1 on Sept. 10 as your sole grade in the course. If you are satisfied with the score you get on that test, you can accept that score as your grade for the course – and you're done for the semester. You won't take any quizzes. And you will not take Test 2 or Test 3 at the end of the semester.

Regular Track counts your grade in the class as a combination of the highest score on the three times you're allowed to take the exam (80%) plus weekly quizzes in class (20%).

Quick Track is intended for students fortunate enough to have had good instruction in grammar and punctuation before college. This option can also apply for those willing to study the course Grammar Guide and other materials, and study diligently for Test 1.

The vast majority of students will take Regular Track, which gives you two more chances at the big test after a semester of instruction and which includes scores from quizzes during the semester.

Your choice of track is up to you. However, your choice cannot be reversed. You cannot wait until the end of the semester and pick the track that would give you the better grade.

If you choose Quick Track, you can still come to class. But you cannot take any quizzes, and you cannot take Test 2 or Test 3. Once a student has taken one quiz, or Test 2 or Test 3, that student is automatically on the Regular Track grading scale. Thus, you won't have to tell me which track you choose. Anyone who takes any quiz or a test beyond Test 1 will be on the Regular Track.

Quick Track Course Grade

Score on Test 1 100%

Regular Track Course Grade

Highest score on Test 1, Test 2 and Test 3 80%

Six highest quiz scores out of nine given 20%

Quizzes

The primary purpose of the quizzes is to encourage you to keep current with the course material and thus retain more of what you're learning. They also will help you gain confidence for Test 2 and/or Test 3.

Quizzes will offer questions just like those on the exams. They will cover the material covered in the previous week's class and are cumulative. Each quiz will have five questions.

Because this is a relatively large class, the following schedule will be followed to encourage academic integrity:

- Quizzes will be given promptly at the start of each class, 9:35 a.m., starting on Sept. 24. (See course schedule below.)
- Because the quizzes will be scored by a Scantron, come early so you can grab a Scantron and fill in the bubbles for your name and ID before the quiz begins.
- Bring a pencil and eraser. (The Scantron reads a black ink pen as a wrong answer.)
- The questions will appear on the screen for one minute each. I will not go back to review questions for those who arrive late.
- After the fifth question, you will immediately turn the Scantron over and immediately pass it to the aisle. I will not wait for students to fill in the bubbles for name and ID. Do that before the quiz is over.
- No talking is allowed during the quiz or while the Scantrons are being collected. If anyone talks while the Scantrons are collected, everyone's quiz can be scored as a zero.

If you have an academic-related disability that allows you more than one minute to answer each question, you must see me as soon as possible and provide the required accommodation letter so we can determine if alternatives are feasible.

Grading Scale

	Percent		Percent		Percent		Percent
		B+	89-87%	C+	79-77%	D+	69-67%
A	100-90%	B	86-80%	C	76-70%	D	66-60%

The minimum score to enter JOU 3101, reporting, is 70. Scores are rounded to the nearest whole point: 89.4 rounds down to 89 (B+) while 89.5 rounds up to 90 (A).

Missed Quizzes or Tests

No makeup quizzes are given under any circumstance. That's why the three low quiz scores are dropped. You can miss a quiz for any reason: illness, emergency, death in the family, religious observation, military obligations, late bus, insufficient sleep, car won't start, happy hour lasted too long the night before, etc. The three drops cover all possible reasons for missing class. No additional drops are allowed no matter how legitimate the reason.

In terms of tests, a makeup is possible if and only if a student falls ill during Test 3, which is scheduled for the final exam period assigned by the UF Office of the Registrar for this course:

12:30 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 13. Such a student would have to call my office phone (352-392-5137) no later than 30 minutes before the exam (or by noon on Dec. 13) and promptly provide written documentation from a medical professional. I cannot offer makeups for Test 1 or Test 2.

University policy covers those rare instances in which students have two exams scheduled for the same time or more than three exams in a day. If such a situation would affect your taking Test 3, please let me know as soon as possible. (I will also have to obtain confirmation from the Office of the Registrar.) In such a case, we would schedule a time for you to take Test 3 before the scheduled exam time, 12:30 p.m. Dec. 13.

Test FAQs

Q. What will be on the test?

A. The learning outcomes (listed below) and the material described in the Grammar Principles handout on Sakai.

Q. Will I be tested on something in a book that isn't discussed in class?

A. No. Everything on the test will be discussed in class.

Q. How long is the test?

A. You will have 50 minutes to answer 40 questions, each of which is worth 2.5 points. That allows you one minute per question with 10 minutes to review.

Q. What is the test style?

A. It is a multiple-choice test. Each question will have four possible answers.

Q. What is the testing procedure?

A. You will mark your answers on Scantron sheets. Bring a mechanical or two wood pencils (in case one breaks) with an eraser. Come early to fill in your name and student ID on the Scantron. You will write your name on the test booklet you receive and return it with your Scantron when you complete the exam. Results will be posted on Sakai.

Q. Will I get any test back?

A. No. However, I will be happy to review your answers to any test with you if you come to office hours or make an appointment.

Q. If I take the test all three times, are they averaged?

A. No. Only the single highest score counts.

Q. Why is Test 1 so early in the semester, on the second day we have class?

A. If you were fortunate enough to be raised in a school system that emphasized grammar and punctuation, the test offers a chance to get a high score right away and opt out of the rest of the course. For most students, the first test lets you know what's expected and serves as a benchmark for your progress during the semester.

Q. How can I prepare for Test 1?

A. Study the grammar principles handout on Sakai. Read the punctuation guide in the AP Stylebook. Skim “When Words Collide.” Try the free websites listed in this syllabus.

Q. What if I’m content with my grade after Test 2? Do I have to take Test 3?

A. No.

Q. Are the tests identical?

A. They are similar in scale and difficulty. However, slight variations will occur because 40 questions are insufficient to cover all of the grammar and punctuation issues addressed in class. Thus, one test may cover the ellipsis but not the dash. So be familiar with all the topics covered.

Q. Are the tests tailored to my major?

A. Two versions of each test will be given according to your major. Version A will be for journalism and public relations majors planning to enter JOU 3101, reporting. Version B will be for all other students. The reason for the two tests is that, as we will discuss in class, punctuation rules differ for the serial comma and possessives for singular proper nouns.

Sample Test Questions

About 80 percent of the test questions probe for two words or phrases, like this:

1. Choose the best answer.
 - a. The quart of strawberries are on the table, ready for whoever wants a snack.
 - b. The quart of strawberries are on the table, ready for whomever wants a snack.
 - c. The quart of strawberries is on the table, ready for whoever wants a snack.
 - d. The quart of strawberries is on the table, ready for whomever wants a snack.
2. Choose the best answer.
 - a. Mary felt bad about asking her sister to work full time this summer.
 - b. Mary felt bad about asking her sister to work full-time this summer.
 - c. Mary felt badly about asking her sister to work full time this summer.
 - d. Mary felt badly about asking her sister to work full-time this summer.

About 20 percent of the questions are of this style:

3. Joel collects beer steins and Nicole collects ceramic figurines. Evaluate this sentence and choose the best answer: Although Joel’s and Nicole’s collections were lost in the fire, the family was grateful that its home appeared to be salvageable.
 - a. The word Although should be While
 - b. The word Joel’s should be Joel
 - c. The word its should be their
 - d. The sentence is correct as written

(The correct answer are 1c, 2a and 3d)

Learning Outcomes

By the conclusion of the course, you should be able to:

- Identify basic parts of speech required to know agreement and pronoun use: adjective, adverb, antecedent, conjunction, noun, preposition, pronoun and verb (linking verb).
- Identify basic parts of a sentence required to know agreement and pronoun use: subject, verb, object, prepositional phrase.
- Spot common sentence errors and know how to fix them: ambiguity, “dead” construction, passive voice and run-on.
- Know when to use a colon and when to capitalize the following word.
- Distinguish a hyphen from a dash and know when to use each.
- Know when to use an ellipsis, parenthesis and semicolon.
- Correctly use quotation marks and accompanying punctuation.
- Use a comma correctly with an apposition (age), conjunction (yet) and items in a series.
- Discern when a phrase is essential and whether it takes a comma.
- Know when to use that, which and who.
- Use an apostrophe correctly with compound subjects, plurals and proper nouns.
- Distinguish between possessive (apostrophe used) and descriptive (no apostrophe).
- Know when compound modifiers require a hyphen.
- Ensure pronouns and verbs agree with nouns and subjects.
- Know when compound subjects joined by and or or are singular or plural.
- Recognize words that are often incorrectly treated as plural such as everyone.
- Fix sentences in which words are not parallel.
- Know which pronoun to use with two people, comparisons and appositives.
- Determine when none is singular or plural.
- Correctly use who and whom.
- Correctly use lay and lie.
- Correctly use affect or effect.
- Correctly use about 25 other commonly misused words such as because/since.

How to Succeed in This Course

- Write something every day to practice grammar and punctuation.
- Read (not skim) a quality newspaper, magazine, blog or book for 15 minutes daily.
- Come to each class on time and ready to learn.
- Ask if anything is unclear. I exist to help you learn.

How to Fail This Course

- Pretend grammar and punctuation can be learned without daily writing.
- Wait until the last minute and cram.

Put Away the Cellphone

Cellphone use in class is verboten. Why? Research shows the human brain is wired to do one thing at a time. People who drive while using their cellphones are four times more likely to get in an accident. Multitasking, I'm sorry to report, is a myth.

"But our generation is different; we know how to multitask," students tell me. Umm, not so much. Research has shown that only 3 percent of people can multitask. The other 97 percent of us are fooling ourselves. And age doesn't matter. We are simply unable to do two things well at the same time.

So if whatever you've got going on the phone is so important you can't put your phone away for 50 minutes, then skip class. But don't pretend you can pay attention to both by sneaking in a few texts during class – unless, of course, you'd like to increase the likelihood you'll flunk the class.

Laptop use is also forbidden unless required to accommodate a disability, per a disability letter. You can download the PowerPoint after class from Sakai. Your learning is best served by focusing on the classroom discussion rather than furiously copying down PowerPoint slides.

Academic Integrity

University of Florida students live by an honor code that prohibits academic dishonesty such as cheating. Students have an affirmative obligation to know what those policies prohibit. If you are unsure, ask me in advance.

When I discover cheating, I fail all the students involved – not just for that quiz or test, but for the entire course. I also send the details of the case to the Dean of Students Office.

Students with Disabilities

If you would benefit from disability-related accommodations, contact the Disability Resource Center as early in the semester as possible. The center will provide documentation so appropriate accommodations can be made. The center is in Reid Hall, 392-8565.

Help With Coping

The UF Counseling and Wellness Center is a terrific, free resource for any student who could use help managing stress or coping with life. The center, at 3190 Radio Road on campus, is open for appointments and emergency walk-ins from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. To make an appointment or receive after-hours assistance, call 352-392-1575.
