What you will learn

Web designers integrate knowledge from many areas: aesthetics, branding, coding, marketing, and communicating. This course focuses on branding and marketing concepts, while integrating ethical reasoning throughout. The value of ethical reasoning can be justified in many ways. For example, as creators of content accessible through the globe, designers have special obligation to be thoughtful, sensitive, and responsible about the impact of their messages. Additionally, consideration of what actions are proper and ethical is central to being a decent and responsible person. At a broader level, the ability to reason ethically can help you to avoid shortcuts and anticipate situations that can harm your brand, your company, your employees, your customers and yourself.

By the end of this course, you will be able to describe the value and purpose of strategic communication. Based on this foundation, you will also learn to:

- Identify ethical dilemmas in strategic communication, including determining how to anticipate and consider different stakeholder's perspectives of those dilemmas.
- Identify and describe a variety of alternative responses to strategic communication ethics problems.
- Use an ethical decision-making model to reason through these ethics dilemmas.
- Make and justify decisions about which responses are most ethically sound.

Summary of Course Design

This course will combine both live sessions and recorded lectures. Live class sessions will be held every Tuesday night of the semester starting at 7pm EST.

Lectures

The recorded materials will help you to understand key concepts and assignments. These are reinforced in an online homework system and in written submissions.

Please note: You may safely ignore any reference to class assignments, projects or homework referred to in the recorded lectures. Many elements of the course have been revised since the recordings were done. Follow only the syllabus for assignments, due dates and other relevant information.

Assignments

You will have regular assignments and these will be the basis for your final grade.

During the first half of the class (weeks 1-5) you will read the assigned materials, view online lectures, demonstrate your understanding in McGraw-Hill's online CONNECT center, and discuss a critical ethical issue related to the material you studied.

Week 6 you will watch a lecture that helps you begin to create a situation analysis for a publically traded firm or business. You will email Prof. Hughes for approval of the company you have chosen for your situation analysis by the end of Week 6 and submit your situation analysis to him during week 12.

The second half of the class (weeks 7-12) gives you a chance to apply ethical reasoning to situations you may encounter or hear/read about, and help you prepare for real-world ethical decision-making. You will read the assigned materials, view online lectures, complete online homework through Canvas and write a discussion post on an assigned case study.

You will be required to turn in two ethics memos. You must submit one memo in Week 10 and the second in Week 12. Each memo should be at least two pages long, single-spaced. The first memo will deal with an assigned ethics topic. The second will be on an ethics topic you choose.

You are also expected to attach any relevant background information to the assignment. The case you choose for the Week 12 Ethics memo must be a real-life strategic communications situation, not a hypothetical situation. You will find more specific instructions in a separate document. These assignments will be submitted through Canvas.

There will also be several in-class team exercises. For these I will be assigning teams and results will be presented in class by a member of each team. These exercises will be discussed in class.

Your semester-long project is to develop a situation analysis for a publicly traded firm or organization. Your focus should be on the marketing or communication challenges faced by the company.

Clarification Point!

There are two areas of our class with 'Connect' in their name. One is the Adobe Connect Classroom, where we will conduct our weekly live classes. The other is the McGraw-Hill Connect e-text and homework site. This is just a coincidence and could cause some confusion....

Homework for weeks 1 – 5

In addition to your readings during weeks 1 – 5, you will have two kinds of homework:

First, under the Discussion tab, you will find a discussion question. You should post a thoughtful response to this key topic question and respond to two posts from your fellow students. All responses should be placed in the "Discussion" section of your Canvas shell.

Second, you will complete homework dealing with your assigned readings in McGraw Hill's CONNECT system and website. Submit your homework through McGraw Hill's CONNECT. You will find a link to CONNECT below in the syllabus near information about your textbook. In purchasing "CONNECT PLUS" for the course you will receive both a digital version of the text and the homework system.

There is no homework in Week 6.

Homework For weeks 7 - 11

For weeks 7 – 12 you will continue to answer the Discussion questions posted under the Discussion tab, and post two replies in response to posts from your fellow students.

For the second half of the course you will submit your homework to the “Assignments” section of Canvas.

There is no homework due in week 12.

Weekly Discussion Posts

Discussion is an integral part of any ethics course. This class will be no exception. You will be expected to read the assigned chapter and accompanying readings and actively participate in weekly discussions through the “Discussions” tab in the Canvas e-learning site. You will be expected to demonstrate that you are thinking about the issues by asking questions, offering your own opinions and share justifications for those opinions, participating in class debate, posting comments and questions to the e-learning site and keeping your eyes and ears open for current events that may relate to class discussions. Please be respectful of the contributions of others and help create a class environment that is welcoming and inclusive.

Requirements

1. You will need an Internet connection to access your text, view the lectures, attend online class sessions, and complete your assignments.
2. You must be able to communicate with the instructor. Most communications can be done via email and the discussion board, but you may be asked to join Dropbox.com (a free online service) to share large files.

Required Textbooks

Your textbook for Weeks 1 – 5 is titled “Contemporary Advertising (14e). Be sure to follow this link and purchase “CONNECT PLUS” when asked:

<http://connect.mheducation.com/class/b-hughes-spring-2016--wdoc-global-strategic-comm>

CONNECT PLUS will give you both the homework system and the e-book.

Your textbook for the second half of the semester is “Business Ethics: Ethical Decision Making and Cases” 10th Edition (2014) by O.C. Ferrell, John Fraedrich, and L. Ferrell. The textbook is available at:

http://www.amazon.com/Business-Ethics-Ethical-Decision-Making/dp/1285423712/ref=dp_ob_title_bk

Please note you can now rent the Business Ethics text from Amazon!
Be sure you get the 10th edition!

Announcements tab in Canvas shell

Be sure to check the Announcements tab in the Canvas shell regularly for information on class assignments, changes and other class information. In addition, important information will be sent via email when it is posted in this tab.

Grading

Grading parameters for the class projects are provided in the form of rubrics. These rubrics are detailed in this syllabus. Your work will be evaluated according to this distribution:

Weeks 1 - 6

Online homework	50 points
Weekly discussion assignments	50 points
Situation Analysis	80 points

Weeks 7 - 12

Online homework	50 points
Weekly discussion assignments	60 points
Ethics Memos (2 sets@35 each)	70 points

TOTAL	360 points 100%
--------------	------------------------

And grades will be determined as follows

A	332-360 points	93-100%
A-	324-331 points	90-92%
B+	313-323 points	87-89%
B	299-312 points	83-86%
B-	288-298 points	80-82%
C+	277-287 points	77-79%
C	263-276 points	73-76%
C-	252-262 points	70-72%
D+	241-251 points	67-69%
D	216-240 points	60-66%
E	0-215 points	0-54%

Note-- Rounding: I round when assigning grades. The grade of 92.62 is A-. The grade of 92.34 is B+. When the grade falls at a .5, I will carry the grade to the next decimal point for rounding purposes.

Policy on Late Work

Work in the class turned in late will not be accepted except for extreme circumstances (i.e. family emergencies.) If you anticipate not making a project deadline, please contact the instructor. Every day a project is late, you will lose a letter grade. No make-up options will be provided.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies and can be found at: <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx>

Assignment Information in depth

Weekly Discussion Assignments

Each week of the semester (except for Week 6) you will need to provide a thoughtful analysis of an ethical issue. Each week you will also post a response to two student's post that you either agree or disagree with. You will write these posts as someone relatively untrained in ethical reasoning, which is the focus of part 2 of the course. It is felt that wrestling with ethical issues before you have had such training will help you to see the value of ethical reasoning skills.

You will find each weekly discussion topic under each respective week in the syllabus.

You will be expected to reference ethical guidelines and perspectives in your responses (and in your responses and create a meaningful discussion with your classmates.

Please keep these guidelines in mind as you create your weekly posts:

1) Your writing should be thoughtful, reflective, and focused. You should also attempt to be persuasive, by which I mean you should try to convince others, especially others who disagree with you, that you have a valid and credible perspective. You may find the following piece helpful as a guide:

<http://opinionator.blogs.nytimes.com/2013/04/25/the-shadow-lobbyist/>

2) At a minimum, your discussion posts should average 400 words. You are strongly encouraged to document any facts you bring to bear in making your arguments. In general, when you provide factual information, it should be referenced.

3) At a minimum, your comments on the postings of others should run between 200 and 300 words.

Personal attacks or disrespect towards others is inappropriate and will cost you points on the assignment. I will watch and determine if I feel a discussion is inappropriate if needed. Your goal should be to help the author of the post you are commenting on see another perspective.

Here is an example of a response to the essay in the link above that does a good job of accomplishing this:

The average American, thanks to a substantial educational and social deficit, simply doesn't understand politics or public policy. The interesting question, then, is how does the political class govern in the name of The People when The People are missing in action? For many decades, the political class maintained the self-delusion of running a democracy by creating their own echo chamber--issues and ideas would echo among elites in D.C. or other capitals of the country until enough steam would build up behind a policy that it seemed like there was a consensus on the issue. As a member of the political elite, if you heard the same story from multiple quarters, you could perhaps convince yourself that what you were hearing reflected the true interests of the public, even if that public was rarely involved in such surges of elite opinion. It was perhaps inevitable that as the technology and capacity to micro-target small portions of the real public have advanced that political lobbyists would eventually realize that they could insert themselves into the political elite echo chamber by manufacturing a ground-swell of 'public opinion' by whipping up opinions on particular policies by enlisting some ideological or ignorant fraction of the public. The real question is whether the political class will eventually tire of the absurdity of this situation and actually enlist the public in meaningful deliberation of issues, though this would mean a loss of control.

Here is another:

Back on July 12, 2002, during a Bill Moyers "Now" interview (transcript here:http://www.pbs.org/now/transcript/transcript_lewis.html) with Chuck Lewis of the Center for Public Integrity, I heard that in 1968 there were a mere 62 registered lobbyists in D.C. - but that this figure had risen to 20,000 by the date of that program.

Three years later, there was a June 22, 2005 Washington Post article, "The Road To Riches Is Called K Street" (still posted online and easily found with a search of that headline), which told how :

"The number of registered lobbyists in Washington has more than doubled since 2000 to more than 34,750," that hiring was booming, and that fees and retainers had risen substantially.

Yet a Ross Douthat column from September 22, 2012, "Washington Versus America" - an intriguing commentary which noted that in 2011, seven of the ten most affluent counties in the U.S. were in the D.C. area, stated that:

"For Mitt Romney and the Republican Party, what's happened in Washington these last 10 years should be a natural part of the case against Obamanomics" - seemingly implying that a surge in influence- buying in D.C. was the fault of the president, and not the Washington Post-noted boom of the Bush years.

Mr. Edsall's column explains how the number of registered lobbyists could drop, while a corruption-generating industry still thrives at the heart of the federal government.

And one more:

It is the 4th branch of government and it showed its power during the gun debate. This branch is in the shadows and it is controlled by money coming from special interest groups such as the National Rifle Association, Organize For Action, the Koch brothers, Sheldon Adelson, Citizens United, all labor union PACS and approximately 4,600 other political action committees.

In the case of PAC's, they in theory represent a group of voters who are supporting the PAC. This creates a problem that: 1). Not every voter belongs to a PAC and 2) Not all PAC's are created equal. The more money the PAC has, the more influence they have. Further, the more one contributes to a PAC, the more influence that person has over the PAC.

Making things worse, these organizations have control over the other three branches of our, tongue in cheek, government. Most of these PAC'S are controlled by a small group of individuals making the decisions. In addition to these Political Action Committees, our elected officials spend much of their time soliciting money from very wealthy individuals in the following industries: Wall Street, Banking, Entertainment, Energy, Home Building, Technology and others.

Politics is the only industry I am aware of that allows its employees to take a paid leave of absence from performing their duties to look for another job; their reelection. I am very pessimistic. If we do not end this corruption the country will continue in its slow decline.... <http://lstrn.us/12kXsML>

4) Your initial Discussion posts are due by Thursday at 11pm ET of each week of the class. Comments on the posts of two classmates are due by Saturday at 11pm ET. Late submissions will be penalized.

Ethics Memos

You will write two ethics memos in the second part of the semester that must be submitted through the “Assignments” tab in Canvas. The first memo, due in Week 10, will discuss a case assigned to everyone; in other words, everyone will write about one case in common. You won’t need to describe the circumstances of this case. These memos should be at least 2 pages, single spaced.

The second memo, due in Week 12, can be about any real-world strategic communications ethics case you choose. This memo should be about a concrete, specific decision you or another media professional has to make. In other words, don’t write about the general issue of the ethical standards of PR or HR professionals; rather, write about a specific case (you may NOT use cases discussed as part of this class or those found in the text).

Write the second case study memo as if you’re the key player (i.e. you are the person encountering the ethical dilemma), and write as if you haven’t yet taken action on the key ethical dilemma – you are still in the process of making your decision and the purpose of the memo is to inform your boss and offer an ethical course of action. (An example of an ethics memo will be available on the Canvas site).

For each entry, you should follow the same basic format:

- Identify and explain the ethical dilemma. For the assigned case, you need don’t need to describe the circumstances of the case. For the second case, keep your description brief – provide only the most critical information. Identify what decision the organization has to make and briefly explain WHY the decision represents a dilemma. What right-vs.-right choice does the decision-maker have to make? (If a media professional is choosing between right and wrong, there’s really no dilemma, only a question of courage.)
- Weigh the alternatives available. Few ethical situations present ONLY either/or options, so don’t limit yourself to two alternatives. Can/should any alternatives be dismissed immediately as unethical? What are the strengths and weaknesses of the remaining alternatives? How would each choice advance your journalistic goal of serving the public? Conversely, what problems would be created by adopting that alternative?

- Cite the ethical rationale for the decision you make. In each entry, come to a decision about what the decision-maker (i.e. you) should do. Explain what you believe the BEST choice would be, even if that choice still isn't perfect. But remember – you're writing to your boss, who may not remember who Kant was. So translate, demonstrating that you understand duty-based and consequence-based ethical principles, but making your arguments in the language of the real world. Make reference to any ethical principle or decision-making model we've discussed, but use language any reasonably educated adult could understand.

Rubric for your Ethics Memos

Rating	Characteristics
65-70	Exceptional. The memo is focused and integrates examples with explanations or analysis. The memo demonstrates awareness of its own limitations or implications, and it considers multiple perspectives when appropriate. The memo reflects in-depth engagement with the topic.
55-64	Satisfactory. The memo is reasonably focused, and explanations or analysis are mostly based on examples or other evidence. Fewer connections are made between ideas, and though new insights are offered, they are not fully developed. The memo reflects moderate engagement with the topic.
45-54	Underdeveloped. The memo is most description or summary, without consideration of alternate perspectives, and few connections are made between ideas. The memo reflects passing engagement with the topic. The memo may indicate student "feelings" about the issue without sufficient development of a moral framework.
35-44	Limited. The memo is unfocused, or simply rehashes previous comments, and displays no evidence of student engagement in the topic.
0-34	No credit. The memo is missing or consists of one or two disconnected sentences.

Semester Long Project

Your semester-long project is to develop a situation analysis for a publicly traded firm or organization. Your focus should be on the marketing or communication challenges faced by the company. You should propose the company that you will work on to Prof. Hughes by Saturday, 11pm EST of Week 6 of the class. In proposing a company, be sure to indicate why you have chosen that company. You should also be sure there is sufficient public information available on the company to do the situation analysis.

You have six weeks to do the Situation Analysis. You can give yourself extra time by viewing the lecture on a Situation Analysis early and reading Chapter 8 in the Contemporary Advertising e-book. For your analysis, use the outline on page 242 titled "My IMC Campaign 8-A: Developing the Situation Analysis."

Schedule/Due Dates

Your initial discussion posts are due on Thursday, by 11pm EST, and your comments/discussion responses on Saturday, by 11pm EST. Your weekly homework is due by Tuesday at 11pm EST.

For week 6 you should submit your publicly traded company that will serve as the focus of the situation analysis by Saturday at 11pm EST. For the Ethics Memos, memo 1 is due Saturday at 11pm EST of Week 10; memo 2 is due Saturday at 11pm EST of Week 12. The Situation Analysis is due Saturday at 11pm EST of Week 12.

University Policies

University Policy on Accommodating Students with Disabilities:

Students requesting accommodation for disabilities must first register with the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>). The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to the instructor when requesting accommodation. You must submit this documentation prior to submitting assignments or taking the quizzes or exams. Accommodations are not retroactive, therefore, students should contact the office as soon as possible in the term for which they are seeking accommodations.

Students with Disabilities who may need accommodations in this class are encouraged to notify the instructor and contact the Disability Resource Center (DRC) so that reasonable accommodations may be implemented. DRC is located in room 001 in Reid Hall or you can contact them by phone at 352-392-8565.

University counseling services and mental health services:

*Netiquette: Communication Courtesy:

All members of the class are expected to follow rules of common courtesy in all email messages, threaded discussions and chats. <http://teach.ufl.edu/wp-content/uploads/2012/08/NetiquetteGuideforOnlineCourses.pdf>

Class Demeanor:

Mastery in this class requires preparation, passion, and professionalism. Students are expected, within the requirements allowed by university policy, to attend class, be on time, and meet all deadlines. Work assigned in advance of class should be completed as directed. Full participation in online and live discussions, group projects, and small group activities is expected.

My role as instructor is to identify critical issues related to the course, direct you to and teach relevant information, assign appropriate learning activities, create opportunities for assessing your performance, and communicate the outcomes of such assessments in a timely, informative, and professional way. Feedback is essential for you to have confidence that you have mastered the material and for me to determine that you are meeting all course requirements.

At all times it is expected that you will welcome and respond professionally to assessment feedback, that you will treat your fellow students and me with respect, and that you will contribute to the success of the class as best as you can.

Getting Help:

For issues with technical difficulties for E-learning in Canvas, please contact the UF Help Desk at:

- Learning-support@ufl.edu
- (352) 392-HELP - select option 2
- <https://lss.at.ufl.edu/help.shtml>

* Any requests for make-ups due to technical issues MUST be accompanied by the ticket number received from LSS when the problem was reported to them. The ticket number will document the time and date of the problem. You MUST e-mail your instructor within 24 hours of the technical difficulty if you wish to request a make-up.

- Library Help Desk support

Should you have any complaints with your experience in this course please visit <http://www.distance.ufl.edu/student-complaints> to submit a complaint.

Course Evaluation:

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>

Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results>

University Policy on Academic Misconduct:

Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/students.php>

The University of Florida Honor Code was voted on and passed by the Student Body in the Fall 1995 semester. The Honor Code reads as follows:

Preamble: In adopting this Honor Code, the students of the University of Florida recognize that academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students who enroll at the University commit to holding themselves and their peers to the high standard of honor required by the Honor Code. Any individual who becomes aware of a violation of the Honor Code is bound by honor to take corrective action. A student-run Honor Court and faculty support are crucial to the success of the Honor Code. The quality of a University of Florida education is dependent upon the community acceptance and enforcement of the Honor Code.

The Honor Code: "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity."

On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied:

"On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

For more information about academic honesty, contact Student Judicial Affairs, P202 Peabody Hall, 352-392-1261.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

All graduate students in the College of Journalism and Communications are expected to conduct themselves with the highest degree of integrity. It is the students' responsibility to ensure that they know and understand the requirements of every assignment. At a minimum, this includes avoiding the following:

Plagiarism: Plagiarism occurs when an individual presents the ideas or expressions of another as his or her own. Students must always credit others' ideas with accurate citations and must use quotation marks and citations when presenting the words of others. A thorough understanding of plagiarism is a precondition for admittance to graduate studies in the college.

Cheating: Cheating occurs when a student circumvents or ignores the rules that govern an academic assignment such as an exam or class paper. It can include using notes, in physical or electronic form, in an exam, submitting the work of another as one's own, or reusing a paper a student has composed for one class in another class. If a student is not sure about the rules that govern an assignment, it is the student's responsibility to ask for clarification from his instructor.

Misrepresenting Research Data: The integrity of data in mass communication research is a paramount issue for advancing knowledge and the credibility of our professions. For this reason any intentional misrepresentation of data, or misrepresentation of the conditions or circumstances of data collection, is considered a violation of academic integrity. Misrepresenting data is a clear violation of the rules and requirements of academic integrity and honesty.

Any violation of the above stated conditions is grounds for immediate dismissal from the program and will result in revocation of the degree if the degree previously has been awarded.

Students are expected to adhere to the University of Florida Code of Conduct <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code>

If you have additional questions, please refer to the Online Graduate Program Student Handbook you received when you were admitted into the Program.

WEEK ONE: Jan 5 - 10

Course introduction and understanding the business of strategic communication

Readings

Ch. 1 Advertising and IMC Today

Ch. 2 The Big Picture: The Evolution of IMC

Read "Web Ethics" which you can find here:

<http://pwebs.net/i/internet-ethics/>

The article raises a number of issues about marketing on the Web. Choose two of these issues and explain why you believe they are ethically troubling (or, if you wish, why you do not find them ethically troubling.) Then, please comment on the responses of at least two classmates. In expressing your own opinion, do so critically (i.e., finding both commonalities and differences) but also respectfully and thoughtfully.

Read, watch lecture, complete Connect homework: Friday by 11 PM ET.

- Note-for all upcoming weeks, homework will be due on Tuesday at 11pm ET for that week. The Friday due date is only for this first week of class.

Discussion assignment posted: Friday by 11PM ET.

Respond to 2 classmates: Saturday by 11PM ET

WEEK TWO: Jan 11 - 17

Strategic Identification of Audiences and Tools for Strategic Communication and Understanding the Value of Planning

Focus on

- Why do companies segment markets and what tools are available for strategic communication?
- What is planning for strategic communication?

Readings

Ch. 6: Segmentation, Targeting and the Marketing Mix

Ch. 7: Research: Gathering Information for IMC Planning

Discussion Topic

Read this posting:

Marketing to Children: Accepting Responsibility

<http://business-ethics.com/2011/05/31/1441-marketing-to-children-accepting-responsibility/>

One of the experts quoted in the piece argues “There is no ethical, moral, social or spiritual justification for targeting children in advertising an marketing.” Do you agree or disagree? Why?

Read, watch lecture, complete Connect homework: Tuesday by 11 PM ET.

Discussion assignment posted: Thursday by 11PM ET.

Respond to 2 classmates: Saturday by 11PM ET

WEEK THREE: Jan 18 - 24

Focus on

- Understanding audiences of strategic communication (the target audience)
- Understanding influences on consumer responses to strategic communication

Readings

Ch. 5: Marketing and Consumer Behavior

Ch. 8: Marketing and IMC Planning

Discussion topic:

An ongoing controversy in audience effects is behavioral targeting on the Web. If you are not certain what that is, please read this article:

http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Behavioral_targeting

Then read this post:

Ethical Issues with 3rd Party Tracking

<http://www.adexchanger.com/the-debate/3rd-party-behavioral-tracking/>

Question 1: The Federal Trade Commission regulates advertising on the basis of 2 criteria: deception and unfairness. How can an ad be unfair? Who gets hurt by deceptive advertising?

Question 2: Imagine your child/younger sibling was offered a free laptop in school with the understanding that they would see an advertisement for 2 minutes every fifteen minutes of use. What would your initial reaction to this offer be? Is it always unfair to advertise to children?

Question 3: Studies have shown that samples, as well as small gifts and lunches, can lead some doctors to prescribe more. Do you agree that marketing of products such as prescription drugs be regulated? (they currently are.)

Discussion topic

You work for MarketUS, an online marketing company that devises campaigns for clients in the technology industry. One of the strategies used by the company is comparison marketing with competitors and similar products. MarketUS wins a new client, a big video game manufacturer. You have been put in charge of the account. Your manager tells you that this account is very important to the company and to devise a strong marketing campaign, remind you that you are up for promotion at the end of the quarter. The client has requested that the online campaign focus on comparing their product to the leading competitor, XYZ Gaming. Your spouse works for XYZ Gaming and has told you in confidence that their latest product is flawed. Impressing your new client would be very useful when you apply for promotion later this year.

Answer these questions in your discussion post:

1. Do you tell your manager about the potential conflict of interest?
2. What do you tell your spouse?
3. Do you share the information about the flawed product, and do you use it in your campaign?
