Assignments Summary

You will have regular assignments as a part of your final grade.

Each week you will read the assigned materials, view online lectures and answering a question or two that are posed in the recorded lecture under the Discussions tab in Canvas, and discuss a critical issue that is posted under each weekly section of the syllabus. You will post your initial reply in the Discussions tab AND reply to at least one classmates post. Additionally, you will enroll in HootSuite University to gain knowledge and experience using various social media channels. You will receive a Hootsuite U Certification upon successful completion of this area of our course.

You will prepare a Social Media Marketing and Branding Plan for a publically traded company/brand you select as a semester long final project. Please post your chosen company for approval from Prof. Hughes by Saturday of Week 6 at 11pm EST and submit your plan to him by Saturday of Week 12 at 11pm EST as a Word document attachment through the Canvas shell under the "Assignments" tab. If you would prefer to submit this plan as a website (using Wordpress or similar platform, instead of as a Word document) that is fine as well.

Connect and Canvas Homework (5 points each. 11 total)

Each week (except week 12) you will complete a homework assignment either in Connect or in Canvas. See Weekly Course Work and Schedule in this syllabus for more details.

For weeks that you are completing Connect homework, go to: <http://connect.mheducation.com/> and log in with your username and password. Your scores will be automatically calculated. You do NOT need to submit anything in Canvas

For weeks you are completing Canvas homework, see the Assignments tab in Canvas. Instructions will be provided in the assignment details. Please submit your assignment as a Word document using the attachments tab. Submit your work in Canvas.

Lecture Replies (5 points each. 11 total)

There will be weekly lectures posted to Canvas. These weekly lectures will cover class material for that week. These lectures will vary in length but will include questions posed to the class about the week's subject. It is your responsibility to watch each lecture and provide a written reaction. Post your lecture replies in the Discussions tab in Canvas . If you see something in a classmate's post you wish to reply to, please do. This keeps the discussion going!

These in-lecture questions will be clearly noted during the lecture as will the minimum length of the answer. Not all lectures have a question. Length will vary!

Since this is an asynchronous class it is possible to watch these lectures at any time, but you will find it easier to watch in conjunction with the weekly readings as they will build on each other throughout the semester. These reaction posts are due by 11pm EST Thursday of the assigned week.

There is no required lecture reply for Week 12

Rubric for grading the lecture reply posts:

5 points	Complete response and posted before weekly deadline. Reaction meets word count minimum and provides student reaction to the lecture, not simply a summary of the presentation. All questions posed during the lecture are answered.

4 points	Complete response and posted before weekly deadline. Reaction does not meet word count minimum and provides student reaction to the lecture, not simply a summary of the presentation. All questions posed during the lecture are answered.
3 points	Complete response and posted before weekly deadline. Reaction does not meet word count minimum and does not provide student reaction to the lecture, but is simply a summary of the presentation. All questions posed during the lecture are answered.
2 points	Complete response and posted before weekly deadline. Reaction does not meet word count minimum and does not provide student reaction to the lecture, but is simply a summary of the presentation. Questions posed during the lecture are not answered.
0 points	No reaction post made.

HootSuite University

As part of the class, you are enrolled in HootSuite University at no cost to you. You will complete weekly modules in HU, which will, upon your successful completion of the modules, result in a HootSuite certification. During the first week of class, you will receive an email at your UFL.EDU email address with access information for registration and directions for setting up your HU account.

You must use your UFL.edu email address for this assignment. If you already have a Hootsuite account, you cannot use it.

Please send Prof. Hughes an email confirming you have set your HU account up. HootSuite U work can be completed at your discretion, but must be finished by the end of Week 11.

HootSuite U will provide a parallel learning experience to our class, giving you a view of Social Media Marketing and brand impact from a leading provider of social media services.

By the completion of HootSuite U course, you will be able to:

Understand social media fundamentals

Understand basic social media etiquette

Create a social media strategy

Publish social media updates and engage with a community

Apply social media best practices to enhance their personal brand

Drive traffic to their blog using social media

Create a content marketing calendar

Understand social media advertising

Manage social media using the HootSuite dashboard

Measure site traffic using Google Analytics

Create and follow a social media policy

IMPORTANT—upon completion of the last module you will receive a HootSuite U certification. Please forward your emailed Certificate to Prof. Hughes at rjhughes@jou.ufl.edu by 11pm EST Sunday of Week 11 to receive your credit for this area of our course.

Discussions (10 points each. 11 total)

Discussion is an integral part of our online course. You will be expected to read the assigned chapter(s) and accompanying readings as well as watching assigned videos (all shared in the syllabus under each week's section) and actively participate in weekly discussions through the Canvas e-learning site. (Under the "Discussions" tab.)

You will be expected to demonstrate that you are thinking about the topic at hand by asking questions, offering your own opinions and share justifications for those opinions, participating in class debate, posting comments and questions to the e-learning site and keeping your eyes and ears open for current events that may relate to class discussions. Please be respectful of the contributions of others and help create a class environment that is welcoming and inclusive.

For each week of the semester (except for Week 12) you will need to provide a thoughtful analysis of a topic or question listed later in the syllabus in the Weekly Assignments section. Each week you will also post responses to at least one of your classmate's initial posts. These assignments are located in the Discussions tab inside the Canvas shell. Your initial post should average 250 words; the initial reply should average 200 words.

Your initial response posts are due on Thursday by 11pm EST, and your comments/discussion responses on Saturday by 11pm EST. You should complete the readings before you write your initial post. Late submissions will be penalized.

You will be expected to use references in your initial posts (and in your responses) and to create a meaningful discussion with your classmates. Please follow the same guidelines when writing discussion posts throughout the entire semester.

Please keep these guidelines in mind as you create these posts:

1) Your writing should be thoughtful, reflective, and focused. You should also attempt to be persuasive, by which I mean you should try to convince others, especially others who disagree with you, that you have a valid and credible perspective. You may find the following piece helpful as a guide:

<http://opinionator.blogs.nytimes.com/2013/04/25/the-shadow-lobbyist/>

2) Your initial discussion posts should average 250 words. You are strongly encouraged to document any facts you bring to bear in making your arguments. In general, when you provide factual information, it should be referenced. Be sure to use only your own ideas and writing. If you are unsure about what plagiarism is, read this:

<http://web.uflib.ufl.edu/msl/07b/studentplagiarism.html>

Ignorance of plagiarism will not excuse a grade of zero on any assignment where it is found.

3) Your initial reply should average 200 words.

Personal attacks or disrespect towards others is inappropriate and will cost you points on the assignment. Your goal should be to help the author of the post you are commenting on see another perspective.

Here is an example of a response to the post in the link in point 1 that does a good job of accomplishing this:

The average American, thanks to a substantial educational and social deficit, simply doesn't understand politics or public policy. The interesting question, then, is how does the political class govern in the name of The People when The People are missing in action? For many decades, the political class maintained the self-delusion of running a democracy by creating their own echo chamber--issues and ideas would echo among elites in D.C. or other capitals of the country until enough steam would build up behind a policy that it seemed like there was a consensus on the issue. As a member of the political elite, if you heard the same story from multiple quarters, you could perhaps convince yourself that what you were hearing reflected the true interests of the public, even if that public was rarely involved in such surges of elite opinion. It was perhaps inevitable that as the technology and capacity to micro-target small portions of the real public have advanced that political lobbyists would eventually realize that they could insert themselves into the political elite echo chamber by manufacturing a ground-swell of 'public opinion' by whipping up opinions on particular policies by enlisting some ideological or ignorant fraction of the public. The real question is whether the political class will eventually tire of the absurdity of this situation and actually enlist the public in meaningful deliberation of issues, though this would mean a loss of control.

Here is another:

Back on July 12, 2002, during a Bill Moyers "Now" interview (transcript here:http://www.pbs.org/now/transcript/transcript_lewis.html) with Chuck Lewis of the Center for Public Integrity, I heard that in 1968 there were a mere 62 registered lobbyists in D.C. - but that this figure had risen to 20,000 by the date of that program.

Three years later, there was a June 22, 2005 Washington Essay article, "The Road To Riches Is Called K Street" (still posted online and easily found with a search of that headline), which told how :

"The number of registered lobbyists in Washington has more than doubled since 2000 to more than 34,750," that hiring was booming, and that fees and retainers had risen substantially.

Yet a Ross Douthat column from September 22, 2012, "Washington Versus America" - an intriguing commentary which noted that in 2011, seven of the ten most affluent counties in the U.S. were in the D.C. area, stated that:

"For Mitt Romney and the Republican Party, what's happened in Washington these last 10 years should be a natural part of the case against Obamanomics" - seemingly implying that a surge in influence- buying in D.C. was the fault of the president, and not the Washington Essay-noted boom of the Bush years.

Social Media Brand Plan (100 points)

Your semester-long project is to develop a social marketing and branding plan for a brand offered by publicly traded firm. Please do so via email to rjhughes@jou.ufl.edu In proposing a brand, be sure to indicate your rationale for it's choice. You should also be sure there is sufficient public information available on the company to develop the plan.

You have the semester to develop and write the plan. For your analysis, use the outline from the Social Media Marketing text. The minimum word count for this plan is 2500 words.

University Policy on Academic Misconduct:

Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/students.php>

The University of Florida Honor Code was voted on and passed by the Student Body in the Summer 1995 semester. The Honor Code reads as follows:

Preamble: In adopting this Honor Code, the students of the University of Florida recognize that academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students who enroll at the University commit to holding themselves and their peers to the high standard of honor required by the Honor Code. Any individual who becomes aware of a violation of the Honor Code is bound by honor to take corrective action. A student-run Honor Court and faculty support are crucial to the success of the Honor Code. The quality of a University of Florida education is dependent upon the community acceptance and enforcement of the Honor Code.

The Honor Code: "We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity."

On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied:

"On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

For more information about academic honesty, contact Student Judicial Affairs, P202 Peabody Hall, 352-392-1261.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

All graduate students in the College of Journalism and Communications are expected to conduct themselves with the highest degree of integrity. It is the students' responsibility to ensure that they know and understand the requirements of every assignment. At a minimum, this includes avoiding the following:

Plagiarism: Plagiarism occurs when an individual presents the ideas or expressions of another as his or her own. Students must always credit others' ideas with accurate citations and must use quotation marks and citations when presenting the words of others. A thorough understanding of plagiarism is a precondition for admittance to graduate studies in the college.

Cheating: Cheating occurs when a student circumvents or ignores the rules that govern an academic assignment such as an exam or class paper. It can include using notes, in physical or electronic form, in an exam, submitting the work of another as one's own, or reusing a paper a student has composed for one class in another class. If a student is not sure about the rules that govern an assignment, it is the student's responsibility to ask for clarification from his instructor.

Misrepresenting Research Data: The integrity of data in mass communication research is a paramount issue for advancing knowledge and the credibility of our professions. For this reason any intentional misrepresentation of data, or misrepresentation of the conditions or circumstances of data collection, is considered a violation of academic integrity. Misrepresenting data is a clear violation of the rules and requirements of academic integrity and honesty.

Any violation of the above stated conditions is grounds for immediate dismissal from the program and will result in revocation of the degree if the degree previously has been awarded.

Students are expected to adhere to the University of Florida Code of Conduct <https://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code>

If you have additional questions, please refer to the Online Graduate Program Student Handbook you received when you were admitted into the Program.
