That means that I'll be pushing your creative limits and challenging you to enlighten, entertain and engage us with your work.

Required Textbook: Felton, G. (2006) Advertising Concept and Copy. NY: Norton & Company. You will have other readings and videos to watch with links posted on E-Learning.

Suggested Reading: Communication Arts Annuals, Graphis, How, One Show Awards books, Communication Arts (student annual subscription is $39. www.commarts.com).

Required Materials: You will need a Flash Drive.

Contacting Me: The best way to contact me is by the email posted above. I check it regularly during business hours. Outside of business hours, not so much, so don't expect replies on weekends or evenings.

Evaluation: Grades are based on the following criteria:

- | | |
|-------------------------|------------------|
| • 4 Creative Projects | 100 pts |
| • Campaign #1 | 100 pts |
| • Campaign #2 | 100 pts |
| • 3 Exams (drop lowest) | 100 pts |
| • Final Web Portfolio | 100 pts |
| • Participation | 100 pts |
| • Final Grade | Total Points/600 |

Exams: You will take three scheduled exams over the assigned reading and class lectures. Your lowest exam grade will be dropped. Exams may include short answer, T/F, and short essay items.

Homework: You receive credit for class participation. Throughout the semester, you will be required to do homework, make presentations, and create initial concepts. If you miss an in-class assignment due to an unexcused absence, or if you do not have your materials on the due date, you will receive a zero for that assignment. You may not give me your ad to present in lab ahead of time for an unexcused absence; you must be physically there to present ads in lab. You will also receive credit for your critiques of your classmates' work.

Homework – Lynda.com - lss.at.ufl.edu: Some homework assignments will include watching assigned Lynda.com video tutorials and turning in the completion certificate that Lynda.com will provide you with once you complete a section. Pay close attention to these due dates for watching video since a few of the videos are a little long you will need to watch them over a period of multiple days for the information to sink in. You have free access to Lynda.com as a UF student just go through lss.at.ufl.edu and click the lynda.com link.

Final Presentation: You will make a professional-quality, 15-minute presentation of one of your finished campaigns in front of the class. We will provide the presentation order and an outline of the presentation format later in the semester. Students in the past have used Powerpoint, Prezi, etc. to complete their final presentation. You may use other methods as well.

Final Web Portfolio: This final portfolio, consisting of your four creative projects and your two ad campaigns, will serve as your final exam—representing what you've learned this semester.

Each campaign must have the following components:

- Creative briefs
- Three print executions
- A broadcast (TV/radio) execution
- And/or a social media promotion

Grading Criteria

- Research. Do you have the knowledge to speak credibly about the products and services you have chosen? Have you learned about the target market, what motivates them, and what doesn't?
- Strategy. Do you have a good plan for positioning your product in the marketplace? How will you use media to communicate your message to the specified audience? Which media will be most effective?
- Concept. Is your idea fresh? Extendible? Effective? Is it appropriate for a campaign, or is it a stand-alone ad?
- Craft. Is your layout well-designed? Is your body copy tight, memorable, and evocative? Do the layout and copy work well together? Is the material presentation of your work attractive? Does the typography work? Does your design and copy fit your target audience and the product? Is/are your visuals appropriate and arresting?
- Presentation. Were you professional, enthusiastic, thorough, clear, and compelling?
- Originality. Can you create a unique, interesting way of viewing the product or service? Can you attract attention? Evoke interest? Hook emotion? Prompt action?
- Attitude. Unprofessional, disrespectful or negative attitudes can lower your grade.

Follow instructions: Your grade will reflect how well you follow instructions. (In the “real world,” you learn about projects during conversations with AEs and clients. You must listen and take notes). If you don’t follow written or verbal instructions on your exams, quizzes, and assignments, you won’t receive full credit for your answers or work. Don’t be afraid to ask for help when you need it.

Class Attendance: The professor assumes that you’re at UF for an education. Roll won’t be taken in class everyday, but "spot" roll-taking and in-class assignments serve this purpose. Exam questions come from the material presented in class lectures, example slides, videos, the book, and class activities. If you don’t come to class, you won’t see examples or be able to ask questions. In addition, class attendance is where the professor decides whether your 89.7 is a B+ or an A.

Excused Absences: In order to receive an excused absence, you must let the professor know you will miss class BEFORE the class meets except in certain (rare) emergency situations. You may do so by sending an e-mail message. Explain why you will not be in class, and bring in written documentation to verify your excuse when you come back to class. Make sure to make a photocopy of the documentation if you need it for other classes. Documentation must be checked before an excused absence is accepted.

Academic Honesty: Academic honesty is an important issue of concern at the University of Florida. Students who violate University rules on scholastic integrity are subject to disciplinary penalties, including the possibility of failure in the course and dismissal from the University. Since dishonesty harms the individual, other students, and the integrity of the University, policies on scholastic dishonesty will be strictly enforced. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is implied: "On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."

Visit the Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution's website
(<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/honorcodes/honorcode.php>) for more information.

Respect: In the real world, you will have to be on time for work and not leave meetings early. Therefore, I am expecting you to do your best and to respect the class by:

- Attending all lectures, presentation, and exams.
- Being on time.
- Being prepared for class and being familiar with any announcements or e-mail notices via e-mail or course website announcement.
- Please do not bring any food during the class.
- Being focused on the lecture and being active learners: any personal conversation during class will distract the class-learning environment.

Students with Challenges

I am committed to help students with any type of challenges, while abiding by the standard code of confidentiality and fairness. In order to address special academic needs, the instructor must be informed of the student's circumstance at the beginning of the semester before performance becomes a factor. Students affected by such challenges should provide an official statement from the Dean of Students Office (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>) explaining his/her situation.

Counseling Services

The Counseling and Wellness Center at the University of Florida is the primary provider of counseling, mental health, and psychiatric services for UF students. The Center's goal is to help students to be maximally effective in their academic pursuits: first, by reducing or eliminating emotional, psychological, and interpersonal problems that interfere with your academic functioning. Secondly, by helping students to thrive, grow in self-understanding, self-responsibility, and optimal life functioning. Visit the Center's website (<http://www.counseling.ufl.edu/cwc/our-mission.aspx>) for more information.
