“Personal Branding describes the process by which individuals and entrepreneurs differentiate themselves and stand out from a crowd by identifying and articulating their unique value and proposition, whether personal or professional, and then leverage it across platforms with a consistent message to achieve a specific goal”
~ Dan Schawbel

Objective:

This course examines how to define and develop a personal brand in today's competitive global marketplace and how to communicate that effectively and professionally. We will explore why it is important to create a personal brand, how to create a personal brand for and study how other well-known people have done it beautifully. We will study methods for conveying a consistent personal brand and you will be exposed to real life opportunities to immerse yourself in the community and showcase your brand to others.

Topics that we will cover:

Networking skills
Email/texting etiquette
Non-verbal presence
The handshake
Social Media
Online presence and branding
Who are you, really?

Week 1: HELLO!

Week 2: Starting today, you are a brand! How to begin defining your brand.

Week 16: Final exam

Attendance Policy:

Please attend class. We only have it once a week and each week there will be assignments for you to complete and know about, some of them will be in class work. If you are sick and cannot make it to class, it is your responsibility to let us know and recover what you missed. Late assignments may only be turned in with permission and approval from Professor Irving PRIOR TO YOUR ABSENCE. Do not attempt to turn in late work if you did not discuss your absence prior to your missed class. We may deviate from the syllabus throughout the semester so do not miss class and expect to know what has been covered.

For every unexcused class, 25 points will be deducted.

Computer/ipad/phone:

You will NOT need your computer, ipad or phone for the majority of this class. If you do need them, I will let you know before hand. Because of this, I do not need to see them out on your desks. Please respect this rule. 20 point deduction if you have it out on a non-required day.
