Course Description:

This one-credit course is designed to provide introductory study and analyses of sports professions with respect to opportunities, responsibilities and current issues involving sports media professionals. Topics include distinctions among careers in sports media, including sports journalism and sports communications, values and ethics, data, and emerging media. The course will include weekly speakers working in sports media positions who will provide insight and advice on careers in sports and media. Some course session will be devoted to discussion of current events and issues related to sports and media.

Sports related industries account for over $200 billion in spending in the United States alone, with an upward trajectory, and there is an increasing need for highly trained and educated professionals in sports journalism and communications and for a better understanding in society of the relationship between sports and the various media. This course will provide a critical basis for creating this understanding as well as introductory knowledge relevant to the various sports media professions. The course, with emphasis on sports journalism and communications, is required for all students to complete the College's undergraduate specialization in Sports and Media.

Course Objectives:

- (1) Develop an understanding and ability to distinguish among the various sports communications professions
- (2) Provide basic knowledge of the responsibilities and skills necessary for sports journalists and sports communications professionals
- (3) Understand basic issues related to ethical practices in sports media professions
- (4) Establish introductory knowledge of the business of sports and media

- (5) Establish understanding of a wide variety of sports and sports events with respect to media coverage
- (6) Distinguish differences in professional and amateur sports with respect to media coverage

Credit Hours:

One Credit

Course Prerequisites:

None

Course Readings:

All readings will be available online in the course schedule and in Canvas.

Attendance Policy:

Attendance in the class is required and critically important. Excused absences include approved UF attendance exceptions or documented illness. For excused absences, provide documentation to your instructor for the reason you missed class within 24-hours of the time of the missed class. In all instances of excused absences the instructor and student will work out a plan for completing missed course material.

For any missed work due to an excused absence, you will have until the following week of the missed class to submit your work or complete any missed Speaker and Reading Quizzes. Failure to make-up work or quizzes missed by the next class for excused absences will result in a zero for the assignment.

You will not be able to make-up Sports Events Quizzes with an excused absence, but your grade will be entered as a blank and it will neither help nor hurt your grade.

You will not be permitted to makeup assignments or quizzes missed due to an unexcused absence.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments and other work in this course are consistent with UF policies which can be found in the online catalog at:

<https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx>

Course Grading Components:

Sports Event Quizzes	40%
Speaker and Reading Quizzes	30%
Final Essay	30%

Sports Event Quizzes:

Short quizzes at the beginning or end of every class. These quizzes will focus on current sports issues and events. In order to be able to work in sports media, it is essential that you keep up with events in the sports world including scores, retirements, controversies, trending topics, sports network changes, and the breaking news in sports. These quizzes will only involve a few questions and will be a means to track attendance.

It is important that students pay attention to the sports world through traditional media as well as digital media to be up-to-date.

Speaker and Reading Quizzes:

Five unannounced quizzes will be given during the semester. These 10-question quizzes will focus on content from readings and information provided by guest speakers. These quizzes will focus on the behind-the-scenes world of sports media with a special focus on careers in sports media.

Readings:

Weekly readings will be posted in Canvas and in the syllabus. It is the student's responsibility to keep up with all readings. We will discuss each week's reading in class, schedule permitting, and students will be tested on their understanding of the readings through unannounced quizzes.

Final Essay:

Students will integrate the knowledge gained from readings and guest speakers during the semester to write a FOUR to SIX page final Career Perspective Paper that outlines their career aspirations in sports media.

Students in this course will spend the semester learning about various sports media industries and will be able to use this information to develop a personal assessment of their potential to achieve a career in sports media.

Students are expected to outline their career goal, how they will achieve this goal, and the pitfalls and roadblocks they may encounter along the way.

Students should think of this paper as a knowledge-based essay of how they will achieve their ultimate goal of working sports media and what they need to do to achieve this goal.

Students must include references to the readings during the semester as well as guest speakers to demonstrate thoughtful consideration of their future careers.

The paper should be double-spaced, with 1 inch margins, No Spacing, in Times New Roman, with a 12 point font that answers all the questions above.

References to any course readings or outside material should be cited using APA (American Psychological Association) formatting. For in-text citations of any readings include (author name(s), year, page number). Provide a full list of references in a separate page.

Your grades will be posted to Canvas at <http://elearning.ufl.edu/>

Course Evaluation:

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>

Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results>

Class Demeanor:

Mastery in this class requires preparation, passion, and professionalism. Students are expected, within the requirements allowed by university policy, to attend class, be on time, and meet all deadlines. Work assigned in advance of class should be completed as directed. Full participation in online and live discussions, group projects, and small group activities is expected.

My role as instructor is to identify critical issues related to the course, direct you to and teach relevant information, assign appropriate learning activities, create opportunities for assessing your performance, and communicate the outcomes of such assessments in a timely, informative, and professional way. Feedback is essential for you to have confidence that you have mastered the material and for me to determine that you are meeting all course requirements.

At all times it is expected that you will welcome and respond professionally to assessment feedback, that you will treat your fellow students and me with respect, and that you will contribute to the success of the class as best as you can.

University Policy on Academic Misconduct:

Academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students should be sure that they understand the UF Student Honor Code at <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/students.php>

The University of Florida Honor Code was voted on and passed by the Student Body in the Fall 1995 semester. The Honor Code reads as follows:

Preamble: In adopting this Honor Code, the students of the University of Florida recognize that academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students who enroll at the University commit to holding themselves and their peers to the high standard of honor required by the Honor Code. Any individual who becomes aware of a violation of the Honor Code is bound by honor to take corrective action. A student-run Honor Court and faculty support are crucial to the success of the Honor Code. The quality of a University of Florida education is dependent upon the community acceptance and enforcement of the Honor Code.

The Honor Code: “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity.”

On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied:

"On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."
For more information about academic honesty, contact Student Judicial Affairs, P202 Peabody Hall, 352-392-1261.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

All students in the College of Journalism and Communications are expected to conduct themselves with the highest degree of integrity. It is the students' responsibility to ensure that they know and understand the requirements of every assignment. At a minimum, this includes avoiding the following:

Plagiarism: Plagiarism occurs when an individual presents the ideas or expressions of another as his or her own. Students must always credit others' ideas with accurate citations and must use quotation marks and citations when presenting the words of others.

Cheating: Cheating occurs when a student circumvents or ignores the rules that govern an academic assignment such as an exam or class paper. It can include using notes, in physical or electronic form, in an exam, submitting the work of another as one's own, or reusing a paper a student has composed for one class in another class. If a student is not sure about the rules that govern an assignment, it is the student's responsibility to ask for clarification from his instructor.

Misrepresenting Research Data: The integrity of data in mass communication research is a paramount issue for advancing knowledge and the credibility of our professions. For this reason any intentional misrepresentation of data, or misrepresentation of the conditions or circumstances of data collection, is considered a violation of academic integrity. Misrepresenting data is a clear violation of the rules and requirements of academic integrity and honesty.

Course Calendar

The goal is that each week we will have a different guest speaker and former Gator speak to the class either in-person or over Skype to discuss their career in sports media. We will also have a weekly Sports Event Quiz. In the event a speaker has to cancel at the last minute, we will spend the class time discussing the week's readings.

Speakers will be announced in advance and you are expected to follow the speaker on Twitter before they speak to the class, speaker permitting, so you can learn more about the individual before they speak to the class. Speakers will be announced in Canvas prior to speaking to the class so check Canvas regularly for more information. Students are also strongly encouraged to be prepared to ask the speakers questions pertaining to their careers or your career aspirations.
