

PROFESSOR

Nicole Irving
JOU4447
Applied Magazines
Wednesday
Period: 11-E2
Time: 6:15-9:10 pm
Room: Weimer3219

Email:

nirving@jou.ufl.edu

Cell: Texting is preferred
352-219-4687

OFFICE HOURS

Available upon request

COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

You are the staff of Orange & Blue magazine!

As a class, you will decide the theme of magazine, content of the issue, generate story ideas, create a lineup – and then create the magazine. You will produce a professional-quality print and digital magazine from scratch.

Your mission: To make it the best magazine produced by college students in the country. To do so, each of you will produce content and assume roles within the magazine's structure. We will run this workshop class as close to a real-world, professional magazine as we can. Consider it the ultimate group project. You will work together to produce a first-rate magazine and you will be expected to perform at a high level.

TEXTS

Textbook: Suggested Reading

The Magazine From Cover To Cover, Third Edition
Sammye Johnson and Patricia Prijatal

Textbook: Highly Recommended

The Associated Press Style Book and Briefing on Media Lay 2019

CASH

At times, you may be responsible for purchasing photo shoot materials and other items to complete production of magazine. Please work it out as a team. If you have any questions, please bring them to my attention immediately so we can work on a course of action to complete the magazine on deadline.

CLASSES

Staff editorial meetings will take place during class. It is imperative that you check your email regularly for updates on class meetings and smaller group meetings. We will spend class time the way staff meetings would be run – critiquing, brainstorming, going over schedules, etc. Because we have some access to labs, you will also be able to use class to do work as well depending on the week.

INSTRUCTOR'S ROLE

You will produce this magazine from scratch. It is the instructor's role to advise, coach and critique (and grade) students in all areas of producing a magazine. Because this is not a totally independent publication, the instructor will approve all concepts, ideas, stories, artwork and layouts. The instructor, the Department of Journalism and the dean of the college retain final decision-making authority.

PROFESSIONAL CONDUCT

This is a workshop-style class in which we will all contribute ideas and critiques of other writers' work and ideas. Please use professional courtesy.

GRADING:

150 points for Job Role:

Fulfilling job responsibilities through the semester. You will be graded on the following:

1. Management: How well you are managing your department and job responsibilities.
2. Organization: are you coming to class on time, organized and being prepared
3. Productivity: How well are you moving forward and keeping your department moving forward.
4. Participation: How well are you engaging and lending help/ideas
5. Creativity: coming up with creative content and sharing ideas.
6. Communication with team members: This is key. You must be able to and willing to communicate in a team setting for your and the magazines success. You must be available and responsive.

150 points: Writing assignments

Each student will be responsible for completing editorial pieces for the magazine. If turned in on time, written in AP style, fully researched and cited and executed based on the slug/assignment, will earn full points. If late, 25 points will be deducted for first missed deadline, and 25 points for every deadline missed after that. This will also occur for 2nd and 3rd drafts and so on. Each deadline must be met.

50 points: (2 blogs at 25 points each) Blog posts will be around 200-400 words and judged on overall originality/style/reporting/photos.

Original or paid for stock photos must be used. Taking photos from the "web" or other sources is not allowed

Please note: Art Director(s) assignment load will vary due to the designing load that will be upon them, they may have an alternate assignment for points.

50 points: Attendance

In order to be successful in this class, attendance is a MUST.

Excused absences include religious holidays (request in writing before class), documented medical excuses. As class proceeds, there may be a need to use class time for interviews and photo-shoots.

This will need prior approval in writing from Professor Irving.

15 points will be deducted for all unexcused absences

If you know you are going to have an issue with a deadline, you need to speak to the Editor (s) and professor and have it approved no less than 5 days before you set deadline.

Deadlines refer to the following:

Writing assignment deadlines

Photo assignment deadlines

Draft assignment deadlines

Blog assignments deadlines

DEADLINES

Failure to meet all deadlines does affect the production of the magazine and, as a result, your grade. Note: If the magazine is not completed by the end of the semester and/or not sent to print, the instructor reserves the right to give the entire class an "I" for a grade until it is finished.

Grading Scale:

A 376 - 400

A- 360 - 375

B+ 348 - 359

B 332 - 347

B- 320 - 331

C+ 308 - 319

C 292 - 307

C- 280 - 291

D+ 268 - 279

D 252 - 267

D- 240 - 251

E 0-239

QUALITY

You are responsible for editorial quality of the magazine. That means all stories must include the elements of good writing, such as compelling ledes, description, anecdotes, tight writing, titles, thorough and enterprising reporting. The ideas, as well as the stories, must be original and thoughtful. The art staff is responsible for original, creative and smart design, as well as the quality of the artwork. We will conduct workshops on your work, but much of the quality control is up to you and your fellow staff members. You will be given feedback on ways to improve, but you will be expected to execute and follow through. The staff and the instructor have no obligation to print any story that is not up to quality standards. Instructor will discuss expectations of multimedia component.

JOB DESCRIPTIONS

In order to produce the magazine, every staffer will also assume an additional role. That role will be determined by your interest as well as the needs of the class. You will apply for the positions you want and the professor will choose the position you get. All roles are considered equal in the eyes of your professor and one role does not mean a higher grade than the other. Your grade is based on your performance within that role.

TOPICS COVERED

In our editorial meetings, we will cover the following issues pertaining to the development of the magazine: Magazine Hierarchy, Copy Flow Process, Deadlines, Developing Lineups, Diversity, Pacing of Issue, Coaching Writers, Revising, Line Editing/Top Editing, Art Concepts, Headline/Display Writing, Design, Production Issues.

HONOR CODE

This class is a collaborative project, so we will all be learning from each other and taking suggestions from each other. Violations of the honor code include such things as plagiarizing or fabricating material. Please see the department's policy on plagiarism at www.jou.ufl.edu/jou. Violation results in an automatic failing grade and dismissal from the journalism program.

In addition, all content from stories and the story lineup are for internal use only. By taking this course, you agree that no material, stories or story ideas may be shared with members of other media.

Content of magazine:

All magazine content, including photos, is copyrighted by the University of Florida and cannot be duplicated, reprinted without the permission of the university. This includes photos. Questions: Please contact Professor Irving.