MULTIDIMENSIONAL GOALS

THE UNIVERSITY OF FLORIDA College of Journalism and Communications Department of Journalism embraces a commitment toward an intellectual community enriched and enhanced by diversity along a number of dimensions, including race, ethnicity and national origins, gender and gender identity, sexuality, class and religion. We expect each of our journalism courses to help foster an understanding of the diversity of peoples and cultures and of the significance and impact of mass communications in a global society.

COURSE DESCRIPTION

IN THIS CAPSTONE course, you are expected to conduct professional-caliber reporting and writing. You will be assigned work that we expect will lead to the production of multimedia storytelling suitable for K-12 public school students educated in the Alachua County Schools system.

USING JOURNALISM SKILLS acquired during your undergraduate studies at CJC, you will produce senior-level, high-quality work with depth and critical thinking. In exchange, you will receive feedback that will improve and strengthen your work in new and creative ways.

ASSUMING THE ROLE of a professional journalist, you are expected to use this course to shore up your skillset by attending a series of class seminars and participating in heavily coached team projects.

THE SEMESTER IS divided into two sprints (see Course Schedule/Team Project Sprints below). The first sprint focuses on idea generation, research and pitching as part of a project expected to be produce multimedia storytelling suitable for a K-12 audience. During the second sprint, you will dive into field work and production necessary to deliver the project. Teams comprised of four students (each bringing a diverse skillset that complements other team members) will work together to emulate the professional media work environment.

WE WILL WORK with you to ensure that you are progressing through the projects and receiving the feedback required to produce professional-caliber, publishable acts of journalism.

INCLUSIVE CLASS AND REPORTING ENVIRONMENT

REPORTERS TELL STORIES of a community and all individuals who make up a given community. We serve, help and inform everyone.

IN ORDER TO best carry out these ideals, we must exhibit respect, inclusiveness and an understanding for all people. These expectations during field work will also be carried into this classroom.

OUR DIFFERENCES WILL serve as a strength that we embrace as we discuss relevant story ideas, developing contacts within a community or even storytelling techniques. Exposure to different perspectives, values, ideals and experiences will make us all better, more compassionate and understanding journalists. We all learn best and maximize our outcomes when we feel comfortable.

PLEASE LET US know what we can do to make sure you feel respected and welcomed in this space.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

- o Gain hands-on experience in multimedia journalism while working in teams;
- o Experiment with tools and best practices in written, visual and audio storytelling.
- o Collaborate with other aspiring journalists who have different strengths than their own.
- o Share best practices for producing digital- and multiplatform-journalism stories.
- o Use appropriate multimedia reporting and production tools.

COURSE OUTCOMES: PROJECTS

1. Students will each work within teams comprised of four classmates to produce publishable works completed during the semester for an audience of students ages K-12.
2. Each project is a story or journalistic resource produced for student consumption.
3. Each team will be assigned the project concept then create goals and timelines within context of syllabus deadlines.

COVID-19 Related Practices

If you request a face-to-face meeting with your instructor for any reason, the following policies and requirements are in place to maintain your learning environment and to enhance the safety of our in-classroom interactions:

- Please wear a mask. Follow policies and actions that will keep us all safe..
- Sanitizing supplies are available in our class space if you wish to wipe down your areas prior to sitting down.
- Use your best judgment on whether to practice physical distancing, particularly when indoors.
- If you are experiencing COVID-19 symptoms (Click here for guidance from the CDC on symptoms of coronavirus), please use the UF Health screening system and follow the instructions on whether you are able to attend class. Click here for UF Health guidance on what to do if you have been exposed to or are experiencing Covid-19 symptoms.
- Course materials will be provided to you with an excused absence, and you will be given a reasonable amount of time to make up work. Find more information in the university attendance policies.

WORDS OF CAUTION

- Missed deadlines could result in failure of the assignment/project.
- Errors in proper nouns or facts result in failure of the assignment/project.
- Stories in which reporters have conflicts of interest shall result in automatic failure.
- Grades on stories can be lowered (to zero) as the result of students misrepresenting themselves or otherwise being unprofessional while working on story assignments.

THE WORD ON SOURCES

ONE OF THE BEST ways to ensure your stories are fair, accurate and complete is to gather information from a variety of sources. Projects with fewer than four sources will be deemed unacceptable.

IN SELECTING potential sources for your stories, keep in mind that we live in a diverse, multicultural world. You should make every effort to have your stories reflect that. Talk to a variety of people from different backgrounds, educational levels, etc. to get a complete story.

STUDENTS ENROLLED in this course should not be used as sources in your stories unless they are involved directly in the story. Friends, roommates, relatives, sorority sisters, fraternity brothers, etc. usually pose a conflict-of-interest threat when used as sources. Transparency is required.

DO YOUR OWN REPORTING AND WRITING

PLAGIARISM – including using material from news releases and information gathered from the internet without attribution – will result in serious and harsh consequences. Should that be discovered, you will fail the course and be recommended for expulsion from the University. You can get educated on how to avoid plagiarism and how it's different from copyright infringement at:

<https://guides.uflib.ufl.edu/copyright/plagiarism>

If you have even the smallest doubt or are confused about this or anything else in the course, ASK YOUR INSTRUCTOR FOR CLARITY.
