Overview

RTV 3593 is designed to offer instruction, analysis and training in sports information gathering and research, writing, interviewing and reporting in a digital age. Special emphasis is placed on improving sports writing skills and reporting judgement, research and analysis of sports events and issues, basic sports production, radio reporting assignments and generation of sports content for the Internet. In addition, students receive practical experience in the Innovation News Center and WRUF-ESPN AM 850-FM 98.1 in the College of Journalism and Communications.

Flipped classroom: Lectures for this class are posted on Canvas and you should watch them before we meet on Wednesday afternoons. In class, we will discuss lecture and reading materials, do exercises and welcome guests.

Course Learning Objectives

The overall objective for this class is for you to learn how to function as a sports journalist in 2021 and beyond. As such, after successful completion of this course, you should have:

- (1) developed skills to effectively research, gather and analyze sports information;
- (2) learned to write high-quality sports stories (news & features) meant for on-air radio broadcast and the Internet – this includes learning about sources needed for sports research and honing your interviewing skills;
- (3) an enhanced understanding of (a) UF, local, high school, national and international sports, and (b) the ethics and values of sports journalism;
- (4) published on WRUF-ESPN AM 850/FM 93.5 (radio and the Internet);
- (5) enhanced skill in voicing work, live and recorded, on-the-air;

Some Rules

1. Professionalism

Respect your classmates, their work and their views. Be polite, professional and respectful when expressing yourself. In addition, I believe part of my job is to get you as ready for the professional industry as possible. Not following basic instructions disqualifies anyone from jobs, so, to get you ready for these expectations, you will have to follow every single instruction on any given assignment. Failure to do so will result in an automatic 20% deduction (of the maximum number of points possible) the first time, 50% the second time and 100% any time after that. Detailed instructions for all assignments are available on Canvas.

2. Preparation

As the old adage goes, “by failing to prepare, you are preparing to fail,” so do the required reading and listen to the lectures before completing any assignment, story or project. Ask questions if you have any doubts. I check my emails and texts way more than recommended by mental health professionals. I will always get back to you as soon as I can. If I seem to have forgotten for whatever reason (it doesn’t happen often, but it might), message me again. You are not bugging me by staying on top of things. However: If you have a question about an assignment, don’t text me at the last minute and expect an answer right away/before the deadline. I may be sleeping or showering at that time. I may use technology in unhealthy fashion (or so they say), but I am still a human being.

3. Deadlines

Remember there’s a reason “DEAD” makes up half the word “deadline.” All deadlines are firm, especially in the media industry. You are responsible for turning in all assignments, stories and projects on the date and time they are due. If you want to get ahead, you are welcome to. I will always try to provide feedback in a timely manner.

Exceptions may be made for extraordinary circumstances if you notify me before the due date. I am available for calls (almost) on a daily basis, please reach out!

4. Feedback

Some assignments will be discussed as a class, so your work may be critiqued by your peers. While this can be uncomfortable, it is much better to get such criticism in class than from Internet trolls. Of course, refer to rule #1 when you are doing the critiquing.

5. Course Content

In the interest of honest and frank discussions, all materials I post on Canvas or other instructing tools (lectures, comments of guest speakers, discussion boards) are strictly off the record. This means that they may not be published in any format, either in a print publication or on a web site, personal blog or social media.

6. Engagement

My role is akin to that of a coach. You are the players, the main actors of this course. Get involved!

7. Honor Code

All students are expected to follow the University of Florida Honor Code. The full text of the Honor Code can be found on the Dean of Students Office's website. Any violation of the academic integrity expected will result in a minimum academic sanction of a grade of zero on the appropriate assignment, and the student being reported to the journalism department. Note that plagiarism specifically is unforgivable in journalism. It essentially ends a journalist's career.

8. Students with Disabilities

Students with disabilities requesting accommodations should first register with the Disability Resource Center (352-392-8565, <https://disability.ufl.edu>) by providing appropriate documentation. Once registered, students will receive an accommodation letter that must be presented to the instructor when requesting accommodation. Students with disabilities should follow this process as early as possible in the semester.

9. Course Evaluations

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on a minimum of 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu>. They typically open during the last three weeks of the semester. Announcements will be made giving specific times when they are open. Summary results are available at the URL above.

ESPN Gainesville

In this course, students receive professional training and experience each week in the Innovation News Center and WRUF-AM ESPN 850 studios. The ESPN experience may include all or some of the following: research, writing web stories, writing and recording radio sports updates, operating the control board, and covering events such as press conferences and sports competitions (likely remotely this semester).

This is a critical component of the course and the evaluation of the effectiveness of this training experience will comprise 33% of the final grade. The ESPN Gainesville experience requires presence in the INC once a week. If you need accommodations, please let me know the first week of class.

Steve Russell, Sports Director for the multimedia properties, will assign the shifts. You must cover yours each week: show up on time and dressed appropriately. Indeed, there is a professional dress code for the INC where you represent the properties, the College and the University of Florida. Closed toed shoes and collared shirts are required. Neutral colors are required for sports journalism students, meaning no orange or blue or UF attire. Athletic wear, hats, sleeveless shirts and flip-flops are not allowed.

If you cannot work one of your shifts, you are responsible for getting someone to cover the shift for you and informing Steve. Note that shifts may include evening or weekend hours, and can change. You may also be asked to work during times outside your regular shifts. These shifts are a recognition of your good work (those are typically the times sports happen!).

While publication on ESPN Gainesville is not 100% guaranteed, students usually finish the semester with several stories published on the website.

Introductory training sessions will be held in the beginning of the semester with ESPN Gainesville staff and alumni during class time. Attendance is required for everyone in the class, even students who have previously worked at one of CJC's multimedia properties.

Throughout your time in this class and in the ESPN Experience, you will advance through different phases. You must master all the skills in a phase before you can move on to the next. Phase One must be mastered before you start your ESPN Gainesville experience.

1. Phase One Objectives

- Can perform and record telephone or online interviews
- Can edit sound bites and write sound story
- Can create fact sheet on a story/interview
- Answer and transfer telephones
- Follow proper social media accounts and aware of what WRUF.com posts on social media

2. Phase Two Objectives

- Can do in-person interviews in the field on stories, help cover press conferences for audio/radio [likely suspended for all of Fall 2020]
- Pitch viable story ideas
- Compose a web story for WRUF.com
- Begin to understand workflow for social media protocols
- Continue mastery of Phase One

3. Phase Three Objectives

- Can cover a press conference on your own [likely suspended for all of Fall 2020]
- Compose more than one web story during a shift
- Can meet higher level of expectation for field work
- Has the understanding and ability to post to WRUF.com social media account
- Continue mastery of Phases One and Two

Course Grading

You will be graded in accordance with UF policies out of 1,300 points:

Evaluation Components	Note	Points Per Component	% of Total Grade
Assignments (9)	One 25-point assignment will be dropped	(6) 25 pts each (3) 50 pts each = 300 pts	23.1%
Projects (3)	-	100 pts each = 300 pts	23.1%
Final Project (1)	-	200 pts	15.4%
WRUF work (1)	-	500 pts	38.5%
Total	-	1,300 pts	100%

Detailed instructions and rubrics are available on Canvas.

Note that for every assignment, story or discussion you turn in, errors of fact (including misspellings of proper names) will lower your grade by 20% each time they appear in a story (of the maximum number of points possible). Easily avoidable mistakes (missing words, typos, basic spelling or grammatical errors) will each cost 5%.

Final grades will be calculated with the following table:

		1,210-1,400 points	A	1,170-1,209 points	A-
1,130-1,169 points	B+	1,080-1,129 points	B	1,040-1,079 points	B-
1,000-1,039 points	C+	950-999 points	C	910-949 points	C-
870-909 points	D+	820-869 points	D	780-819 points	D-
779 points and under	F
