Course Description

- PUR4800 is the capstone course for the public relations undergraduate program at the College of Journalism and Communications. Therefore, it draws heavily on students' previous training in principles, techniques, writing, and research methods to develop a public relations campaign for a real-world client.
- Students will use public relations principles and techniques to analyze case studies, track current public relations issues, create various communication campaigns, and present new opportunities to their client. The additional advanced learning will come not solely from the instructor and the course materials but in the application – the creation of a comprehensive public relations campaign for Monica Mondelli's travel social media channels. This course will add another accomplishment for your undergraduate portfolio. You will be able to show prospective employers a rigorous, creative, and thorough campaign book. This is an exciting opportunity to bring together everything you've learned during your time at UF.

Client Introduction

- Hello everyone! My name is Monica, but my friends call me Mo. I am originally from New York -- after high school I enlisted in the Marine Corps and was stationed in North Carolina. While in the military, I had newfound hobbies like traveling, taking pictures, and flying drones. On my first deployment, I had a realization that I had seen more of Iraq than I have seen of the states. I made myself a promise that I would prioritize experiencing different parts of the world starting -- where we live. When I got out of the military, I moved to Colorado and bought a Ford Transit van that I am currently renovating to travel in with my two dogs. I decided to start sharing this process on social media along with the trips that we're taking so others can enjoy them as well.

Tasks for Client

- Based on enrollment, the class will be divided into groups – groups will each be assigned a campaign task. After an initial meeting with the client, the tasks include: branding and social media.

Course Format

- Students will join class via Zoom every Tuesday and Thursday promptly at 12:30 pm EDT. Tuesdays will consist of lecture with group meetings while Thursdays will serve as optional meetings between the instructor and groups (with an exceptions during weeks 1 and 5 for the kickoff meeting and final presentations), with the expectation that you will be working on your campaign book during this time.
- Each team will have a team captain, editor, and client liaison – these will be decided after students take an interest survey.
- For the campaign, the course will employ the counseling-firm format wherein class members form account teams, each representing Monica Mondelli. Students are expected to dress and act professionally in all dealings associated with the client. We will treat our client with the utmost respect.

Course Goals

PUR4800 is an applied undergraduate course designed to provide students in public relations with a real-world capstone experience. By the end of this course, you will:

- Plan and develop a successful strategic communication campaign.
- Work effectively with a liaison for the client.
- Practice thinking strategically and courageously on behalf of a client or cause.
- Learn to represent yourself as a knowledgeable, competent, and confident professional.
- Understand the role of importance of research in responding to potential or emerging public relations problems or potential opportunities.
- Apply strategic, creative thinking in the development of a public relations campaign and collateral materials.

Other Course Policies

- The University of Florida Honor Code applies to all activities associated with this class.
- Students should regularly check Canvas for course updates and check their email daily to respond to any client concerns/questions.
- Students are expected to read the assigned readings and take accompanying reading quizzes.
- Active student participation is crucial in ensuring a successful relationship with the client and success in this course.
- All work will be judged by professional standards. I will grade written assignments with care and expect that you will write with the same responsibility and precision you applied to your previous writing courses.
- All work must be typed and visually appealing with no spelling, grammar, or APA style grammatical errors. Points will be deducted for such errors.
 - More information on APA style can be found here.

- The editor should ensure that all material adheres to APA style.

Grading

Grades are earned via eight modes: (1) class attendance and participation, (2) reading quizzes, (3) case study paper and presentation, (4) midterm exam, (5) weekly client communication, (6) final client presentation, (7) campaign milestones and final campaign book, and (8) peer evaluations.

Class attendance and participation (10%)

- Attendance is required for each Tuesday class meeting. You must be fully present during class, contribute to discussions, and demonstrate through your comments that you have understood assigned readings and lecture recordings. Given that this is a short course, your attendance grade will be negatively impacted by ANY unexcused absence, especially because class time will be partially devoted to teamwork in working towards the milestones and final project/presentation. An excused absence is one supported by documentation (e.g., from UF or a doctor's note) or specifically approved by the instructor prior to the absence. Regardless of the reason for your absence, you are responsible for all class work missed, and a missed class is not an excuse for missing a deadline. Late arrivals and/or early departures from class (without prior approval from the instructor) or multitasking during class will count as an unexcused absence.
- Seven small assignments (interest survey, watching Mo's videos, group contracts, kickoff meeting team questions, issue, goal, and objective statements, secondary research roles, primary research/planning roles, measurement and evaluation roles) will also contribute to this grade.

Reading quizzes (10%)

- The intent behind the reading quizzes is to assess your understanding of key concepts relayed to you during textbook readings and recorded lectures throughout the semesters. The goal is to ensure you begin class informed and ready to assist your team in developing a strategic, research-based public relations campaign. Four reading quizzes will appear sporadically throughout the summer session and contribute to 10% of your grade.

Case study paper and presentation (15%)

- During the first day of class (July 6th), students will select their case study from a list on Canvas. They will write up a 3 to 4 page paper (Times New Roman, size 12 font, double spaced) and record a 10-slide presentation on analyzing and evaluating their selected case study. Papers and presentations are due on Canvas by 11:59 pm Friday, July 28th.

Midterm exam (15%)

- Halfway through the summer session, students will complete a midterm examination to ensure that they are comprehending the information taught in class so far. The midterm exam will focus on public relations campaigns generally, secondary research, and primary research. The midterm will consist of multiple choice, matching, and short response questions. The midterm will be open from July 18th at 5:00 pm until July 22nd at 11:59 pm.

Weekly client communication (5%)

- Every Friday, each group will take careful consideration of the class/instructor feedback on their weekly group update. Then, the client liaison will provide a short-form email to Monica Mondelli at monica.noel.modelli@gmail.com, copying their group and the instructor to receive credit. This communication is crucial to keep the client informed between the kickoff call and final presentation.

Campaign milestones & final book (35%)

- As the main project for this course, students will work in teams to conduct research and propose a public relations campaign for the Innovation News Center. Students are required to provide a written campaign book (~70-90 pages). Specific directions and an example campaign book are provided on Canvas. The deadline for this assignment is August 10th at 5:00 pm.
- 15% of this grade will consist of the campaign material milestones/drafts due throughout the semester (5% each). For each draft, the instructor will provide feedback for you to consider for the final draft. Each of the drafts will culminate into the final campaign book.
 - Before the secondary research deadline, the teammate in charge of the theory section must meet with the CJC librarian.
- The remaining 20% are entirely dependent on your group's submission of the final campaign book.

Final client presentation (10%)

- The class will conclude with a final, live, in-class presentation with the client that covers the final campaign plan in great detail. For each group, this presentation will be ~20 minutes with an additional 10 minutes for Q&A. Presentations will be during class time on August 3rd, 2023. These presentations will give you time to incorporate Monica's thoughts before the final campaign book deadline. Public speaking resources will be posted to Canvas before presentation day. If your group would like practice time with the instructor, email bshaughnessy1@ufl.edu to schedule a private Zoom meeting.

Peer Evaluations (5%)

- Your team members will each evaluate your contribution to the campaign. Their evaluation of your work will affect your final campaign book score. Specific details about peer evaluation are provided on Canvas.

Deadlines

- “Student” deadlines (reading quizzes, campaign plan drafts/ milestones) are due at 11:59 pm EST. Given that we are working with a real client, client communication and the final campaign book must be completed by the end-of-business day, 5:00 pm EST.

Late work policy

- Due to the expedited nature of this course, dealing with a real-world client, and my goal of preparing you for a job in public relations, any work turned in late will receive a zero (0).

Notes

- Florida House Bill 7: In this course, we may cover sensitive and/or challenging subjects. As in all our courses, we do this not to indoctrinate but to instruct, to prepare you to be the most effective and successful media professional or scholar that you can be. We encourage you to understand all concepts presented in class, but we know that what you personally choose to believe is your business.
- Course recording by instructor: Our class sessions may be audio and visually recorded for students in the class to refer back or for enrolled students who are unable to attend live. Students who participate with their camera engaged or utilize a profile image are agreeing to have their video image recorded. If you are unwilling to consent to have your profile image or video image recorded, be sure to keep your camera off and do not use a profile image. Relatedly, students who unmute during class and participate orally are agreeing to have their voices recorded. If you are not willing to consent to have your voice recorded during class, you will need to keep your mute button activated and communicate exclusively using the “chat” feature, which allows students to type questions and comments live. As in all courses, unauthorized recording and unauthorized sharing of recorded materials is prohibited. The final client presentation will not be recorded, so it is expected all students will turn on their camera, unmute, and dress professionally.
- Client confidentiality: Because we are working for a real client that may provide proprietary information to you, our class discussions and materials may be related to client issues and challenges. As such, all client-related discussions or materials for this course must be kept confidential.
- Academic honesty: Students must abide by the Student Honor Code. Any violation of the academic integrity expected of you will result in a minimum academic sanction of a failing grade on the assignment or assessment. Any alleged violations of the Student Honor Code will result in a referral to Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution. Please review the Student Honor Code and Student Conduct Code at sccr.dso.ufl.edu/policies/student-honor-code-student-conduct-code/
- Disability accommodations: Students with disabilities who experience learning barriers and would like to request academic accommodations should connect with the Disability Resource Center. Click here to get started with the Disability Resource Center. It is important for students to share their accommodation letter with the instructor and discuss their access needs as early as possible in the semester.
- Counseling center: University counseling and mental health services are available to you at <https://counseling.ufl.edu/> or at 352.392.1575.
- Religious observance: Religiously observant students wishing to be absent on holidays that require missing class should notify the instructor at the beginning of the semester and should discuss with them in advance acceptable ways of making up any missed work.

- Excused absences for University Extracurricular Activities: Students participating in officially sanctioned, scheduled university extracurricular activities will be given the opportunity to make up any graded assignments missed as a result of their participation. It is the responsibility of the student to make arrangements with the instructor prior to any missed scheduled examination or other missed assignment for making up the work.
- Course evaluation: Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback in a professional and respectful manner is available here. Students will be notified when the evaluation period opens and can complete evaluations through the email they receive from GatorEvals in their Canvas course menu under GatorEvals or via <https://ufl.bluera.com/ufl/>
