This course teaches the knowledge and skills necessary to plan, design, and conduct secondary and primary research that aids important advertising and marketing decisions. Students learn about a range of research methods and techniques and implement them in their own projects to obtain relevant and reliable information. They develop instruments for original data collection and analyze the data in light of their research objectives. Research findings are used to provide recommendations and future direction for the brand's advertising strategy and marketing communication campaign.

COURSE OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of the course, students will be able to:

1. Understand the role of research in making advertising and marketing communication decisions
2. Develop explicit and measurable research objectives
3. Design and conduct secondary and qualitative research projects
4. Analyze the data and interpret the results in the context of research objectives
5. Provide a written report on their research

PREREQUISITES

- 3JM ADV | STA 2023
- Minimum grades of C in ADV 3008 and MAR 3023

COURSE FORMAT AND POLICY

This is an asynchronous online course and thus gives you flexibility of when and where you “attend” the class. However, it is EXTREMELY IMPORTANT that you set aside a “class time” each week to study the course materials and complete the assignments. Typically, a learning module is released on Monday while assignments are due by the end of the week. Students will not be excused for turning in the assignment late unless the reason is approved by the department chair or program director. Students’ personal travel schedules and conflicts with another course’s deadline are not excusable reasons for turning in an assignment late, for example. Do not wait until the day before the assignment is due to contact the instructor with questions. Keep up with the readings and lecture videos and start assignments early.

Make sure you are connected to the internet when submitting your work and double-check to make sure it has been submitted. Often times student submit their assignments, close their browser only to get a missing assignment grade.

COURSE STRUCTURE

This course consists of 18- 20 learning modules. For each module, students need to read the assigned chapters of the textbook, watch lecture videos and supplemental videos, take a quiz, and complete assignments. In addition, students work in a team to carry out a research project in two phases (secondary research and robust qualitative research). The course is designed such that students follow the modules in sequential order. All requirements of a module must be completed to unlock the next module. The following is general information about the main requirements for the course. Detailed descriptions are provided in Canvas.

QUIZZES

Quizzes assess students' comprehension and retention of the module's content. Each quiz has a time limit and must be taken individually. Although students may use their notes and refer to the text, they need to have a firm understanding of the module's content to be able to answer questions accurately and quickly within the given time.

RESEARCH PROJECT

Students form a team and conduct a research project on a brand/client throughout the semester. The research project is designed to provide students with a practical orientation of the activities involved in planning, organizing, executing, analyzing, and reporting research. The student team acts as an agency research group charged with developing an advertising and marketing strategy for the brand that will result in the successful win of the account from the present agency of record. The team conducts research in two stages (secondary and qualitative) and present the findings in the form of a written report. While each segment of the report is graded independently from other segments, the parts, when taken together, should demonstrate a cumulative growth in the team's understanding of the brand in terms of its potential appeal to the consumer.

INDIVIDUAL ASSIGNMENTS:

In addition to the major group assignments, there are individual graded assignments such as discussion participation that students need to complete by themselves. More information is available in Canvas.

LATE ASSIGNMENT (NO SUCH THING)

Late, missed, or revised assignments will NOT be accepted. Because this is a relatively short semester there is no room for makeup assignments or tardy work. Exceptions will only be approved by the course instructor if you have a DOCUMENTED medical emergency or other situations that are supported by UF leave policies.

Travel, vacation, internship, tours, etc., will not be considered under this clause. A written petition to the instructor explaining the reason for assignment tardiness must be attached with the submission. Assignments not submitted within the initial deadline will lead to a grade penalty (usually 20% of the grade per day), and after 6 days, students will forfeit all possible points for that assessment.

PLEASE NOTE: Students cannot access the next module until all assignments in a module are completed.

COURSE EVALUATIONS

Students are expected to provide professional and respectful feedback on the quality of instruction in this course by completing course evaluations online via GatorEvals. Guidance on how to give feedback professionally and respectfully is available at gatorevals.aa.ufl.edu/students/. TIPS FOR SUCCESS

Taking a course online can be a lot of fun! Here are some tips that will help you get the most of this course while taking full advantage of the online format:

- Schedule "class times" for yourself. It is important to do the coursework on time each week. You will receive a reduction in points for work that is turned in late!
- Read ALL of the material contained on this site. There is a lot of helpful information that can save you time and help you meet the course's objectives.
- Print out the Course Schedule located in the Course Syllabus and check things off as you go.
- Take full advantage of the online discussion boards. Ask for help or clarification of the material if you need it.
- Do not wait to ask questions! Waiting to ask a question might cause you to miss a due date.
- Do your work well before the due dates. Sometimes things happen. If your computer goes down when you are trying to submit an assignment, you'll need time to troubleshoot the problem.
- To be extra safe, back up your work to an external hard drive, thumb drive, or through a cloud service.
