Overview and Objectives

MMC 1009 is designed to introduce students to the tools and resources offered by the College of Journalism and Communications, while preparing them for success as a student and in their careers thereafter. Students will receive lessons on the organization of the college and academic and career preparation. Instructors will coach students to maximize their learning and development by creating environments which provide opportunities for the following:

- Engagement (faculty/staff, and peers)
- Awareness and respect of diversity
- Involvement
- Knowledge of resources
- Active engagement in one's own learning
- Goal setting and career plan development
- Healthy lifestyle

Class Expectations

- Class will be fun and engaging.
- Be on-time and meet deadlines.
- Material will be useful and have a purpose
- Participation and Attendance is Required
- Mature and Respectful behavior is expected.
- Side conversations, sleeping, or checking electronics is not appropriate.

Attendance Policy

Attendance in the class is required. Students will be allowed 1 unexcused absence. Quizzes will be taken during each class period to earn credit. Excused absences will be accepted per the university attendance policies. All religious holiday conflicts should be submitted by the 3rd week of class.

Deadlines and Submission Policy

Unless otherwise noted, assignments must be submitted via Canvas by the end of the day (11:59 pm) on the due date. No late work will be accepted. If you will have an excused absence or other conflict with submitting an assignment, it is your responsibility to arrange submission early. In case of an emergency, late work may be accepted with documentation of extenuating circumstance.
