

SYLLABUS

JOU1001: Intro to Journalism
Fall 2013
Mondays, 4:05-4:55 p.m.
Gannett Auditorium, Weimer Hall

Instructor: Steve Orlando, sfo@ufl.edu, 352-392-0186

Office hours: Wednesdays 2-3 p.m. 101 Tigert Hall

Required reading: "Somebody Told Me," by Rick Bragg (One chapter per week – see below;) The New York Times; other readings as assigned.

Objective: Intro to Journalism is fairly self-explanatory. The idea is to give you a look at what journalism is all about and to help you decide if a career in the business is right for you. A series of guest speakers from various walks of journalistic life will light the way.

Tests: You will have two tests, both multiple-choice Scantrons, one in the middle of the semester, the other near the end. Show up for class, listen and take notes, read and you should have no problems. It's that simple. Really. (A note about taking notes: I encourage you to take notes the way a journalist would, which means listen for what sounds important, such as names, facts, numbers and anything proceeded by the words, "This is important so write it down.")
