INTRODUCTION

The study of intercultural communication is often approached from a social-psychological perspective. Although that perspective has yielded many important ideas about intercultural communication, other historical, interpretive and critical perspectives also contribute to our understanding of our subject, particularly in acknowledging the influence of context and power in intercultural interactions. Through your participation in this course, you will come to appreciate the complexity in intercultural interactions and increase your intercultural communication competence.

STUDENT LEARNING OBJECTIVES

As a result of participating in this course you will:

1. Be able to articulate the social psychological approach, the interpretive approach, and critical approach to the study of intercultural communication.
2. Know the role that power and context play in intercultural communication.
3. Be able to describe the complexity of intercultural interactions.
4. Be aware of the influence of ethnicity and history on intercultural interactions.
5. Demonstrate that you are self-reflective in your intercultural interactions.
