Course description: International public relations is practiced by all types of private, public, non-for-profit, activist, and non-governmental organizations and institutions that progressively engage in building and maintaining relationships with stakeholders in many locations worldwide. This online graduate course includes content and discussions on global issues affecting the public relations profession, the professional, the specialized practices, and the engagement of stakeholders, simultaneously at home, host, and transnational levels. For instance, the course includes an evaluation of the various factors that determine the profession’s evolution and practice in different countries. Also, this course aims to introduce and analyze the main concerns affecting the management of the public relations function, such as transnational crises; coordination and control mechanisms (i.e., integration and localization balance); professionalism levels; trends; and the practitioners’ social roles, responsibilities, and competences. Despite the emphasis on the global, the readings and debates of this course clearly address the subjects of diversity and multiculturalism, which are also relevant for the practice and study of public relations in complex national and regional environments.

This course has the following overall objective:

To facilitate students in learning and applying the theoretical and practical concepts and strategies of international public relations in transnational organizations, including the agency, nonprofit, governmental, multilateral, and activist sectors.

Method of instruction: The online course includes 13 modules. The content will be delivered through video lectures, outline notes as PowerPoint presentations, assigned readings, assignment guidelines, quizzes, and discussion rooms. Your participation is essential and required, with online posts comprising a portion of your final grade. The quality of your participation in online discussions and video presentations and assignments will affect your grade; therefore, active engagement is crucial. Not all of the materials that you read will be included in video presentations or topical outlines, therefore, if you need further explanations or clarifications please consult with the instructor.

Required readings: Sets of required readings are available on Sakai. Please see the course schedule for the complete list of readings. There may be additional readings in the form of handouts or Sakai postings at various times during the term.

Online course administration—Sakai: https://lss.at.ufl.edu/ will be used to administer the course communication, materials (i.e., PowerPoint files, reaction comments / discussions, readings, assignment guidelines, quizzes) and grades.
Course evaluation: The evaluation of coursework will be based on the student’s performance in five areas, each of which constitutes a proportion of the final grade. The area and grade allocations for each component of the online class’ evaluation are as follows:

Grades for this graduate course will be based on the total points earned over the term

ASSIGNMENTS

Eleven postings [33% total, 3% each]. See online class schedule for topics and due dates:

- A written critique based on one of the readings of the week and any additional consulted materials.
- Length: a minimum of 250 words is due on Sakai according the class schedule.
- Specifically, analyze, support, or critic one or various key points that caught your attention from one of the readings assigned for each module.

Four quizzes [20% total, 5% each]:

- The four (4) quizzes of the course are designed to test the graduate student’s knowledge of the main ideas covered in each of the modules, including readings, handouts, and online discussions as specified in the syllabus.
- The quizzes will be multiple-choice and non-cumulative. Study guides will be provided for each quiz. Grades will be posted on Sakai.
• An online discussion board will be available for suggested quiz questions for the tests during the development of the online course.

Brief case study (transnational corporation in your home country) (17%):

• Identify a crisis faced by a foreign transnational corporation in your home country.
• Use news reports, social media, and corporate information such as website or news releases to briefly describe the crisis and its consequences.
• Analyze corporate responses using the theory of transnational crisis or cross-national conflict shifting articulated by the instructor of the course [module 5].
• The length of the case study is seven pages minimum and 10 pages maximum, double spaced, and 12-point Times Roman font. It should closely follow the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (APA).

Government website analysis (public diplomacy content) (15%):

• Select a government-sponsored website of your home country or any country in the world oriented to audiences or publics in other parts of the world.
• Identify and analyze the target audiences and strategies used using the readings on public diplomacy as theoretical framework [module 8].
• The length of the analysis is five pages minimum and 10 pages maximum, double spaced, and 12-point Times Roman font. It should closely follow the APA Publication Manual.

Home country transnational corporation (authenticity website analysis) (15%):

• Identify a transnational corporation based in your home country with operations in other markets.
• Analyze the corporate narrative of the corporation as it is presented in its website. Use the readings on authenticity and the authentic index articulated by the instructor of the course [module 13].
• The length of the analysis is five pages minimum and 10 pages maximum, double spaced, and 12-point Times Roman font. It should closely follow the APA Publication Manual.

CLASS POLICIES

• The University of Florida Honor Code applies to all work related to this online graduate course (see page 10). All students are expected to be honorable and to observe standards of conduct appropriate to a community of scholars. Students are expected to participate in online discussions. Assigned readings should be completed in addition to follow topical outlines and watching video class lectures. Any material discussed and/or covered in the assigned readings may be included on examinations. Students will not be allowed to make up assignments outside the timeline set for the online course. Exceptions to this policy will be limited to documented exceptional (as defined by the professor) circumstances and at the discretion of the professor.

• The professor reserves the right to make changes, if necessary, to the grading system, schedule, or other matters pertaining to the class.
• The professor may also be reached via e-mail and the telephone, but please be aware that the professor will not be able to respond immediately to your communication. As a rule, allow up to 48 hours for a response. Therefore, barring an emergency situation, it is advisable to contact the instructor well in advance of a deadline in order to give the professor adequate time to respond you.

- Each of you plays a role in shaping this course. I encourage you to be actively involved in class discussions and activities. Please also be respectful of the contributions of others, and help create an online class environment that is welcoming and inclusive.

- If you notice yourself having trouble in the course, it is crucial that you contact me immediately.
Please feel free to approach me about any concerns or comments you might have about this online class.

- Any evidence of plagiarism or cheating will result in an “E” for the course and possible disciplinary action.

- Do not submit the same work to more than one class without prior written permission from both instructors. Do not adapt work from another class for this class without my prior written permission. Do not adapt someone else's work and submit it as your own. This online graduate course requires original work, created at this time, for this purpose.

- Spelling counts. So does grammar, punctuation and professional presentation techniques.

- An assignment turned in passed the deadline will be penalized one letter grade for each weekday it is late. This is a business where deadlines count. You cannot make excuses to your boss or a client if your work is late.

Students with challenges: I am committed to helping students with special challenges overcome difficulties with comprehending the subject matter, while abiding by the standard code of confidentiality. In order to address academic needs, I must be informed of the student’s circumstance at the beginning of the semester before performance becomes a factor. This is not to imply that standards of fairness will not be generally applied when evaluating student work; only that reasonable and appropriate measures will be taken to ensure that officially recognized challenges do not become a hindrance to a student’s ability to succeed in this course.

The University of Florida Honor Code was voted on and passed by the Student Body in the Fall 1995 semester. The Honor Code reads as follows:

Preamble: In adopting this Honor Code, the students of the University of Florida recognize that academic honesty and integrity are fundamental values of the University community. Students who enroll at the University commit to holding themselves and their peers to the high standard of honor required by the Honor Code. Any individual who becomes aware of a violation of the Honor Code is bound by honor to take corrective action. A student-run Honor Court and faculty support are crucial to the success of the Honor Code. The quality of a University of Florida education is dependent upon the community acceptance and enforcement of the Honor Code.

The Honor Code: We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honesty and integrity. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied:

"On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment."
