Course Description
This course is designed to provide a thorough understanding and overview of the principles of scriptwriting, and to instruct students in how to apply these principles through practical exercises involving commercials, corporate videos, documentaries, feature films, and television genres such as comedy and drama. Another objective is to help develop students' critical faculties, enabling them to examine and evaluate the scriptwriting projects of others, as well as their own. The course will be comprised of lectures, exercises, screenings, analyses, and discussions.

Attendance and Communication
Students are expected to:

- attend all class sessions- Please contact the instructor via email regarding pre-planned or emergency absences
- arrive to class on-time- Please contact the instructor via email regarding pre-planned or emergency tardiness
- actively participate in class discussions
- complete all assignments and projects on time
- turn off all cell phones, beepers, pagers upon entering the classroom

To do well in this course, you should come prepared to all class sections and actively participate in them. Read the assigned chapters BEFORE class so that you may use the information during class discussion.

I use e-Learning as the main communication tool. I will post all assignments on e-Learning. This is where I will update the class schedules, enter grades, provide documents and links for further reading or exploration. In the event of a last minute change or cancellation, I will announce it on e-Learning and through your UF email address. It is your responsibility to ensure you are able to receive email messages through your @ufl.edu email address. It is also your responsibility to regularly review the information provided to you on e-Learning BEFORE each class.

You will be expected use MSWord, Excel (or OpenSource versions of these like OpenOffice, etc) and internet browsers as well as know how to create PDF documents to submit assignments on Turnitin.com. Become familiar with each of these tools prior to our first class.

Requirements for class attendance and make-up exams, assignments, and other work in this course are consistent with university policies that can be found in the online catalog at:
https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/attendance.aspx
Grading
You must complete your assignments fully and turn them in on time. Assignments turned in late (i.e., after the beginning of class on the due date) will be penalized according to the following scale:

- up to 24 hours late: -10%
- 24-48 hours late: -25%
- 48 hours-1 week late: -50%
- >1 week late: -100%

Students who complete each assignment should not assume full credit will be given. The quality of the assignment will be considered during the evaluation process. Quality refers, but is not necessarily limited, to the following: standard English usage (punctuation, spelling, grammar, etc.) when applicable, neatness, manner of presentation, organization, and appropriate guidelines.

Though you will be asked to participate in groups during class time, unless otherwise noted, all assignments must be completed individually. The use of any additional materials is prohibited in all activities and assessments, unless otherwise noted.

No incompletes will be given without a medical reason.

Grading Criteria
Your grade for this course will be based on the quality of your work and your ability to meet the assigned deadlines. Grades are awarded as follows:

- Class Participation 20%
- Assignments 40%
- Exams/quizzes 15%
- Final Project 25%

University Honor Code
UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code.

On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.”

The Honor Code (http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/) specifies a number of behaviors that are in violation of this code and the possible sanctions.
Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor in this class.

I hope you take this commitment to academic honesty and integrity seriously.

Prerequisites
In order to take this course, you must have a grade of C or better in RTV 2100 and RTV 3000, and have junior standing in Telecommunication.

Special Needs
Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. Course Evaluations
Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at https://evaluations.ufl.edu. Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results.
Course Schedule
Note that this schedule is tentative and may change when deemed appropriate by the instructor. Such changes, should they occur, will be made in writing on e-Learning within the “Weekly Schedule” section of our course. It is your responsibility to be aware of these changes. Get into the habit of checking e-Learning before each class meeting time.
