Classroom: Weimer 1084

Professor: A.J. Coffey, Ph.D.

Phone: 392.6522

Email: acoffey@jou.ufl.edu

Office: 2042 Weimer

Office Hours: M/W 10:45-12:45

Description: Audience, economic and placement considerations in scheduling programs for broadcast radio, television and cable television, and other electronic media of mass communication. This course must be completed before enrolling in RTV 4506 and RTV 4800.

Prerequisites: Grade of 'C' or better in RTV 2100 and RTV 3007.

Objectives:

- 1) To understand the various telecommunication media industries and their structures.
- 2) To be able to compare and contrast the public interest and marketplace models of the media industry, as well as the inherent conflict this causes for commercial media firms.
- 3) To understand the dual product market concept
- 4) To understand basic competitive strategies utilized by telecommunications media.
- 5) To understand basic programming theory and how it is applied in the competitive marketplace
- 6) To understand the relationship between technology, policy, innovation, and competition within the media marketplace
- 7) To be able to effectively apply programming theory and competitive strategy to actual media industry scenarios
- 8) To understand audience traits and audience measurement techniques
- 9) To be able to assess the strengths and weaknesses of various content delivery platforms for different audiences, and to effectively program across multiple content platforms
- 10) To learn to think critically, objectively, and strategically about the telecommunications industry, its structure, and dynamics, in order to effectively problem-solve.

Required Texts:

- Eastman, S.T. & Ferguson, D.A. Media Programming: Strategies and Practices (9th ed.). Wadsworth/Cengage, 2013. (green cover)

See <https://catalog.ufl.edu/ugrad/current/regulations/info/grades.aspx> for further info on university grading policies.

All assignments are due at the time class meets. Late assignments will be accepted up to 24 hours later (from the class period time) with a 10% grade reduction. After this, no credit will be given. (Late assignments must be turned into my mailbox at Weimer Hall or in person.) Class absence is not an acceptable excuse for a late assignment. "Computer problems" are also not a valid excuse for late assignments. Plan ahead.

We will also be using TurnItIn for most assignment submissions (through our Canvas site), and will discuss how to do so in class. The same deadline above also applies to the TurnItIn submission. In addition to uploading your assignment, however, please also turn in the hard copy in class for grading purposes.

Exams must be taken on the assigned date. Failure to show up for an exam will result in a zero. (This does not apply to excused absences due to school-sponsored events; see below. In such cases, see me for arrangements.) If, for some reason, an emergency arises and you realize you will not be able to take the test on the date given, you must get my permission to do so, and we must discuss this ahead of time. (Leaving me a phone message or sending an email does not constitute permission.) Makeup exams are essay-only.

Academic Honesty

UF students are bound by The Honor Pledge which states, “We, the members of the University of Florida community, pledge to hold ourselves and our peers to the highest standards of honor and integrity by abiding by the Honor Code. On all work submitted for credit by students at the University of Florida, the following pledge is either required or implied: “On my honor, I have neither given nor received unauthorized aid in doing this assignment.” Furthermore, you are obligated to report any condition that facilitates academic misconduct to appropriate personnel. If you have any questions or concerns, please consult with the instructor or TA in this class.

Familiarize yourself with the University of Florida Student Honor Code at <http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr/process/student-conduct-honor-code/> as well as possible violations and sanctions. UF’s Academic Honesty Guidelines and Standards of Ethical Conduct (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/studentguide/studentrights.php#ethicalconduct>) can also be found on the Student Conduct and Conflict Resolution portion of the Dean of Students’ web site (<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/sccr>). You should not be at UF or plan a career in this field unless you are prepared to do your own original work. If I discover that you have been academically dishonest in this class in any way, you will be penalized, up to and including suspension from the University.

You are responsible for knowing the definition of plagiarism and various kinds of academic dishonesty. Ignorance, i.e. “I didn’t realize that was plagiarism” or “no one ever told me” is not an acceptable response, and will not excuse you from academic dishonesty violations, if found. While you are responsible for reading and understanding UF’s policy in its entirety, examples of academic dishonesty include:

- Using phrases or quotes from another source without proper attribution
 - For purposes of this class, five or more words (verbatim) from a source without proper attribution will be considered plagiarism.
 - Improper attribution includes failure to place quotation marks around verbatim text from another source, as well as failure to cite author when content is paraphrased.
- “Forgetting” to source material you use (same as above, intentional or not)
- Passing off others’ ideas as your own
- Turning in the same assignment or paper for two courses, i.e. “dual submission.” (While this might be tolerated in other classrooms, it will not be tolerated here.)
- Stealing and/or copying other students’ work, whether on a test or assignment
- Bribery
- Fabrication of material

Cheating and academic dishonesty don’t just harm you and your classmates. Such behavior cheapens the value of every degree from the University of Florida.

Attendance Policy

Much of what you will learn will come not from your textbooks, but from class lecture and discussion. (Exam content will also reflect this.) Your absences also take away from your peers' educational experience. Recognizing that "life happens," however, my attendance policy for the course is as follows. Each student is permitted a total of five absences for the duration of the semester, without penalty. Beginning with the sixth absence, however, a 10% grade reduction will be applied to the "participation" portion of your final grade, with another 10% for every missed day (unexcused) after that. Use these 5 excused absences wisely and responsibly. Also, an attendance sheet will be passed during the first 15 min. of each class. It is your responsibility to sign it, so that your attendance can be noted. (If you are more than 15 min. late to class, you forfeit your attendance credit for that day.) Do not ask me how many absences you have during the semester. That is your job to monitor.

Note: School-sponsored events are considered excused absences with proper documentation, and do not count against the 5 permitted above. These include obligations that may come about due to your membership on UF sports teams, music organizations, student government or other officially-recognized UF groups. Job interviews or other career-related events are also excused with documentation. Finally, there are many religious holidays throughout the semester. If you know that you will be missing class for this reason, please see me ahead of time so that I know to excuse the absence.

Support Services

Academic Help: Additional services are available at:
The Teaching Center & The Reading and Writing Center
SW Broward Hall, 392-2010, <http://teachingcenter.ufl.edu>

Disability Resources: If you have a disability that you believe will affect your performance in this class and/or need special accommodations, please see me.
Additional information and services are available at:
UF Disability Resource Center, 392-8565
<http://www.dso.ufl.edu/drc/>

(Students requesting classroom accommodation must first register with the Dean of Students Office. The Dean of Students Office will provide documentation to the student who must then provide this documentation to me in office hours to discuss accommodations.)

As alluded to earlier, "life happens." Often, things that happen outside of the classroom can affect your performance inside the classroom. UF has wonderful and confidential counseling services to assist you, should this happen. They can handle almost any issue imaginable (academic, relational, family, stress management, abuse, eating disorders, etc.) so don't be afraid to phone or stop by for this wonderful (free) assistance. Course Evaluation

Students are expected to provide feedback on the quality of instruction in this course based on 10 criteria. These evaluations are conducted online at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu> . Evaluations are typically open during the last two or three weeks of the semester, but students will be given specific times when they are open. Summary results of these assessments are available to students at <https://evaluations.ufl.edu/results> .
