

Constitution of the College of Journalism and Communications

Preamble

Whereas education in the core disciplines of journalism, advertising, public relations, and telecommunications is of global significance;

Whereas our College serves a democratic society and its citizens through teaching, research, creative activities, and service concerning the core disciplines and given our commitment to openness and transparency as essential to a democracy and self-governance;

Whereas shared governance is effective through working relationships between administrators and faculty, and mutual respect for the participants' differing roles and responsibilities, and mutual trust in the ability and willingness of the various parties to meet their commitments;

We, the members of the College of Journalism and Communications, do ordain and establish this Constitution.

Article I: Organization and Purpose of the College

Section 1. The College of Journalism and Communications is one of the basic degree-granting units of the University of Florida (see University Constitution). All provisions contained herein shall be in accordance with and subordinate to the regulations and procedures of the University of Florida Board of Trustees and the Florida Board of Governors, the Collective Bargaining Agreement between the University of Florida Board of Trustees and the United Faculty of Florida, the University of Florida Constitution, and state and federal laws and regulations, hereinafter "University Policy." Operating within these contexts and within the provisions of this Constitution, governance shall be shared between the administration of the College and the faculty as represented in the Faculty Senate (see Art. II, Sect. 2.2).

Section 2. Mission of the College

The University of Florida College of Journalism and Communications (CJC) is committed to a diverse and inclusive environment, preeminent scholarship, cross-disciplinary education, superior skills development and collaboration spanning the science and practice of communication to produce significant societal impact on a local, state and global scale.

Section 3. Departments, Divisions, Units, Institutes, and Centers

The College of Journalism and Communications is organized into departments, divisions, media units, institutes, and centers.

3.1 Departments. Departments shall be the fundamental unit of academic and administrative organization within the College (see the University Constitution).

3.2 Divisions. Divisions are administrative units within the College that encompass a wide array of activities and functions which contribute and support the academic mission of the College.

3.3 Institutes and centers. For the purpose of research or teaching programs at the graduate or undergraduate level, there may be established under the Dean, an institute or center to administer such inter-disciplinary research or teaching programs (see the University Constitution).

3.4 Media and immersion units. The media and immersion units, which include but are not limited to television and radio stations, digital sites, the Innovation News Center, and The Agency, are a major part of the teaching mission of our College.

3.5 Creation of, consolidation of, or other changes to departments, institutes, centers, units, and divisions by the Dean shall follow University Policy.

Section 4. Administration

4.1 The chief executive and administrative officer of the College shall be the Dean, who is responsible to the President of the University for the administration of the College, and who shall be the agent of the faculty for the execution of educational policy (see the University Constitution).

4.2 The Dean, in consultation with appropriate faculty and with approval by University administration, shall appoint associate deans, assistant deans, directors, and managers as needed and in accordance with University Policy. All administrators are expected to operate in the spirit of shared governance.

4.3 Each Department is headed by a Chair appointed by the Dean in consultation with the Department's faculty and in accordance with the University Constitution. The Chair serves as chief executive and administrative office of the Department, is responsible to the Dean for administration of the Department, and is the agent of the Department faculty for the execution of academic policy. Chairs are expected to operate their Department in the spirit of shared governance.

4.4 The Dean shall consult with faculty on the performance of administrators in the College at least once every three years.

Article II: College Governance

Section 1. Authority

1.1 The authority of the faculty to participate in determination of policies, procedures, and activities of the College shall not exceed the limits of the Constitution of the University of Florida. Members of the faculty are encouraged to take an active and responsible role in discussions of proposed new policies, procedures, and activities and/or changes to existing policies, procedures, and activities. Academic governance is most effective when faculty and administration work together to carry out duties and responsibilities.

1.2 In keeping with the Constitution of the University of Florida, the Faculty Senate (see Art. II, Sect. 2.2, herein) shall act in an advisory capacity to the Dean and appropriately represent the interests of the faculty.

Section 2. Shared governance

2.1 Decision-making in the College of Journalism and Communications shall be guided by the University's five principles of shared governance: a) mutuality, collegiality, and collaboration; b) transparency; c) representative participation; d) mutual accountability; and e) clarity of roles.

2.2 The faculty's role in shared governance. The College faculty has determination roles "on certain matters, such as curriculum, criteria for tenure and promotion, evaluation of students, and recommendations regarding accreditation"; recommendation roles "on certain matters including but not limited to the College budget and technology decisions that impact teaching and research"; and consultation roles "on other matters connected with the priorities and policies of the College and their implementation."<sup>1</sup>

a. The Faculty Senate (see Art. II, Sect. 2.2b) and the College standing committees (see College Bylaws, Art. I, Sect. 1.1) work collaboratively in enacting these roles, as defined by the University's shared governance policies and by the College Constitution.

b. The Faculty Senate is an elected representative body of the College faculty, with its leadership elected by the Faculty Senate, which acts on behalf of the faculty and is responsible for working with unit administration to develop and oversee the operation of shared governance within the College.

c. To ensure the success and vitality of shared governance in exercising decision-making responsibilities on issues and policies affecting faculty, the administration will seek input as appropriate from the Faculty Senate and communicate about final decisions made.

2.3 The Dean's role in shared governance. The Dean of the College is designated by the University as having the ultimate authority in all college decision-making. To enable shared governance, following the guidelines from the Report of the Presidential-Faculty Senate Joint Task Force on Shared Governance, the Dean will share authority and responsibility with the faculty.<sup>2</sup>

a. On matters in which the faculty has recommendation responsibility, the Dean shall modify or reject recommendations only after a further conference with the Faculty Senate (or its representative), when possible. The Dean (or the Dean's designee) will then inform the Faculty Senate (or its representative), or the full faculty, of the final decision and the reasons for that decision.

b. On matters in which the faculty has consultation responsibility, the Dean will seek input from the Faculty Senate and also inform the faculty of the nature and rationale for decisions before they are made, whenever feasible.

c. The Dean shall meet at least once a semester with the Faculty Senate (see Art. II, Sect. 2.3) to discuss the state of the College and work with the Faculty Senate on shared goals and outcomes.

Section 3. Procedures of the College

3.1 The most current edition of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised shall be used in conduct of all faculty, graduate faculty, and committee meetings unless suspended by a simple majority of those present and eligible to vote.

3.2 Unless otherwise stated explicitly herein, all references in this Constitution to a majority vote shall mean a simple majority, or more than half of those present and eligible to vote, provided there is a quorum (defined as one-third of in-residence faculty as noted in Art. II, Sec. 4.6).

Section 4. Meetings of the full faculty

4.1 Who can call them and how often. The Dean or the Faculty Senate may call meetings of the full faculty. There shall be at least one Senate-called faculty meeting each semester. There shall be at least one meeting during the academic year at which the Dean presents the state of the College. In a case where an emergency compromises the meeting, the meeting will be rescheduled as soon as it is feasible.

4.2 Who presides. For Dean-called faculty meetings, the Dean or the Dean's designee shall preside. For Faculty Senate-called faculty meetings, the chair of the Faculty Senate or the chair's designee shall preside.

4.3 Agenda. Agendas for faculty meetings will be prepared and distributed to the faculty at least 24 hours prior to the meeting. For Dean-called meetings, the Dean or Dean's designee shall develop the agenda. For Faculty Senate-called meetings, the chair of the Faculty Senate shall develop the agenda. Faculty members and administrators may suggest items for the agenda provided they are submitted in writing and in a timely manner. A majority of those present may vote to permit discussion on non-agenda items. Action items must be identified as such in the agenda.

4.4 Minutes. Minutes of each faculty meeting shall be taken. For Dean-called meetings, the Dean or Dean's designee will appoint a person to take minutes. For Faculty Senate-called meetings, the chair of the Faculty Senate will appoint a person. Draft minutes of meetings shall be written and submitted to the Dean, Dean's designee, or the Faculty Senate chair within 14 days of that faculty meeting and approved at the next Senate-called or Dean-called faculty meeting. After the minutes have been approved by a vote of the faculty, the Dean, Dean's designee, or chair of the Faculty Senate shall make the minutes publicly known through the appropriate technologies.

4.5 Parliamentarian. For Dean-called faculty meetings, the Dean or Dean's designee shall appoint a parliamentarian. For Faculty Senate-called meetings, the chair of the Faculty Senate shall appoint a parliamentarian. The parliamentarian shall be announced at the beginning of each meeting.

4.6 Quorum. A quorum shall consist of one-third of the faculty (as defined in Art. III, Sect. 1) in residence. "In residence" shall be defined as those faculty members who are not on sabbatical or other official leave approved by the Dean or the University excluding business travel and sick leave that does not affect performance of assigned duties.

4.7 Proxy voting. No proxies shall be recognized.

Section 5. Graduate Faculty Meetings

5.1 Who calls the meetings. The Associate Dean for Graduate Studies may call a meeting of the graduate faculty (as defined in Art. III, Sect. 2.1) as needed.

5.2 Who presides. The Associate Dean for Graduate Studies, or a person whom s/he designates, shall preside.

5.3 Notice of meetings. Announcements of regular graduate faculty meetings should be sent expeditiously to all graduate faculty and made publicly known through the appropriate technologies at least 24 hours in advance.

5.4 Agenda. The Associate Dean for Graduate Studies shall develop the agenda for graduate faculty meetings and distribute the agenda to the faculty at least 24 hours prior to the meeting. Graduate faculty members and administrators may suggest items for the agenda provided that they are submitted in writing and in a timely manner. A majority of those present may vote to permit discussion on non-agenda items. Action items must be identified as such in the agenda.

5.5 Minutes. Minutes of each meeting must be taken. The Associate Dean for Graduate Studies will appoint a person to take minutes for the meeting. Draft minutes of the meetings shall be written and submitted to the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies within 14 days of a that faculty meeting. After the minutes have been approved by a vote of the graduate faculty, the Associate Dean or Associate Dean's designee shall make the minutes publicly known through the appropriate technologies.

5.6 Parliamentarian. The Associate Dean for Graduate Studies shall appoint a parliamentarian. The parliamentarian shall be announced at the beginning of each meeting.

5.7 Quorum. A quorum shall consist of one-third of the graduate faculty in residence. "In residence" shall be defined as those faculty members who are not on sabbatical or other official leave approved by the Dean of the University excluding business travel and sick leave that does not affect performance of assigned duties.

Article III: The Faculty

Section 1. Membership of the faculty

1.1 Voting members. The faculty of the College consists of all persons employed by the University during the regular academic year as defined by UF Senate Bylaw 21.

1.2 Faculty members within a Department or unit may recommend individuals by a simple majority vote to be elected or appointed as departmental representatives to faculty standing committees, task forces, and faculty meetings, and bestow upon these individuals voting privileges, as appropriate. When making these appointments, the Department or unit will determine that the individual's responsibilities include teaching or research in the Department. The Department or unit can change these appointments if the individual's assignment changes (see the University Constitution).

Section 2. Graduate faculty

2.1 Membership. All members of the faculty of the College who have been appointed to membership in the Graduate Faculty of the University shall be members of the College graduate faculty. See the University Constitution for criteria for appointment to the Graduate Faculty of the University.

2.2 Duties. The graduate faculty of the College shall have all the powers and duties relating to graduate students and programs that the College faculty has over undergraduate students and programs. The level of involvement of graduate faculty in supervising students is determined by the Associate Dean for Graduate Studies in consultation with the faculty member and the faculty member's Department Chair.

Section 3. Searches and appointments

3.1 Appointment of new faculty and Department Chairs. Searches for Department Chairs, tenure-track, non-tenure track, and tenured faculty members, shall be conducted by the Department in which the faculty member shall hold academic rank. For searches involving more than one department or unit, a committee representative of all the departments/units for which the hire might have teaching, research, or service duties will be formed. The hiring authority shall appoint the search committee. The College's EEO Officer will act in an advisory capacity for all searches. Search committees should reflect a broadly defined diverse membership. The hiring authority shall notify the affected unit(s) of the committee's formation in a timely fashion. The hiring authority shall appoint the search committee chair. Searches for faculty or department chair positions will be conducted in accordance with UF Constitutional requirements, Collective Bargaining Agreements, and principles of shared governance.

3.2 Appointment of emeritus faculty. An affirmative vote of Department faculty is required before an individual can be appointed to emeritus status (see University Regulations).

3.3. Appointment of Associate and Assistant Deans and other College administrative officers.
The Dean may appoint Associate and/or Assistant Deans and directors as the Dean deems necessary for the accomplishment of desired goals, subject to the approval of the President or the President's designee. The dean will consult with the Faculty Senate about these appointments.

3.4 Appointment of the Dean. The Dean shall be appointed by the President or the President's designee. In making this appointment, the President shall give consideration to the opinion of the faculty of the College (see the University Constitution).

Section 4. Tenure and promotion

4.1 All considerations of tenure and promotion shall be consistent with unit, College, and University guidelines for tenure and promotion. All unit and College guidelines regarding tenure and promotion shall be applicable to the hiring of faculty members at senior ranks or with tenure. The Dean or Dean's designee shall annually distribute College and University guidelines for tenure and promotion along with relevant deadlines for submissions.

4.2 Recommendations for nomination for tenure shall be initiated by the faculty member who is eligible for tenure, in accordance with University Policy.

4.3 Recommendations for nomination for promotion shall be initiated by the eligible faculty member, in accordance with University Policy.

Section 5. Faculty rights

5.1 The faculty believes that academic freedom and responsibility are essential to the full development of a university and apply to teaching, research, and creativity. Therefore, the faculty must be free to cultivate a spirit of inquiry and scholarly criticism and to examine ideas in an atmosphere of freedom and confidence.

5.2 Faculty members have the right to know what is required of them in their work and how that work will be evaluated. Faculty members shall be provided with a statement of their responsibilities and criteria by which they will be evaluated upon initial appointment and at least annually thereafter.

5.3 All decisions regarding tenure, promotion, sabbatical leaves, salaries, salary increases, and evaluations, and all results of those decisions, shall be made known to the individual faculty member in a timely manner. Faculty members have the right to appeal such decisions, in a timely manner, consistent with applicable policies and procedures, and to expect a timely reply.

5.4 On all matters relating to tenure and promotion, faculty members have a right to receive, in a timely manner, the results of Departmental votes, the College committee's recommendation, the Chair's letter, the Dean's letter, and their recommendations.

5.5 The faculty has a right to assemble to discuss matters of concern to the faculty without limit.

5.6 All faculty members have the right in accordance with University Policy to see any and all information about themselves kept in any official personnel files within the College or Department and have the right to reply in writing.

Article IV: Constitutional Review

Two years after the approval of this Constitution by the faculty, the Faculty Senate shall review this Constitution, and all applicable governing documents, and propose changes if necessary. Future reviews shall be conducted at least every three years, unless a review is called for by a majority vote of the faculty at a faculty meeting.

Article V: Amendments to the Constitution

The Constitution may be amended by a two-thirds vote of all faculty in residence (defined as those faculty members who are not on sabbatical or other official leave approved by the Dean or the University excluding business travel and sick leave that does not affect performance of assigned duties) at any regular or special meeting of the faculty, provided that written notice and the text of the proposed amendments are sent to the faculty by the Dean, Dean's designee, or Faculty Senate chair at least two weeks prior to the meeting at which such action is to be taken. The vote on the amendment(s) shall be in a single meeting. No proxies shall be recognized. All amendments must include an effective date. The chair of the Faculty Senate shall send electronic notice to the faculty of amendments when they have passed.

Bylaws of the College of Journalism and Communications

Article I: College Committees

Section 1. The College shall have four types of committees on which faculty may serve.

1.1 Standing faculty committees. Faculty committees address concerns pertaining to the major academic missions as defined by the University's Faculty Senate (e.g., curriculum, standards for appointment, evaluation of students) or within the University-recommended areas of shared-governance functions: Academic Policy and Structure; Faculty Quality and Welfare; Academic Planning, Budgeting, and Resource Allocation; Research and Scholarship; and Academic Infrastructure and Support.<sup>3</sup> Under shared governance, these are areas in which the faculty possesses either recommendation or determination rights.

1.2 Standing Dean's committees. Dean's committees are committees created by the Dean at his/her discretion. The Dean or his/her representative appoints members, and the members report directly to the Dean.

1.3 University-mandated committees. University-mandated committees are required by the University and defined by University Policy.

1.4 Task forces. Task forces may be formed by the Dean or the Dean's representative. Faculty task forces may be formed by faculty members or the Faculty Senate as they deem appropriate. A task force will be disbanded when its task is completed.

Article II: Committees of the Faculty

Section 1. Authority

The standing committees of the faculty (herein "standing committees") shall carry out duties prescribed by the Constitution, charges assigned by the College's Faculty Senate and administration, and in accordance with University Policy.

Section 2. General rules

2.1 Minutes. All standing committees must provide minutes of meetings. Minutes of each meeting will be sent to the specific standing committee chair or designee after the minutes have been approved by its members. The chair or designee will post on the College's website. Each committee will determine how it will be taking minutes (e.g., electing a secretary, alternating minute-taking among members, etc.) for that particular academic year during the initial committee meeting during the fall semester.

2.2 Announcement of meetings. In the interest of shared governance, the chair of a standing committee shall announce all meetings to the faculty expeditiously and make it publicly known through appropriate technologies at least 24 hours in advance. If the meeting is required to be open pursuant to the Sunshine Law, then the chair of the standing committee shall make it publicly known through appropriate technologies at least three business days in advance.

2.3 Agendas. The agenda for each committee meeting will be prepared by its chair and distributed to committee members and all faculty at least 24 hours prior to meetings.

2.4 Quorum. Unless otherwise stated explicitly herein, all references in these Bylaws to any quorum shall mean more than half of the members of the body.

2.5 Voting procedures. When a vote is taken in a committee, all members of the committee are eligible to vote, unless otherwise specified for the individual committee elsewhere in these Bylaws.

2.6 Frequency of meetings. All committees should meet at least once per semester. If a committee finds that it does not need to meet once per semester, the committee's chair is required to consult the Faculty Senate to discuss whether the committee might need to be restructured or disbanded.

2.7 Annual report. All committees will create an annual report on their activities that will be sent to the College Web Administrator to post on the College's website before the last Senate-called faculty meeting of the spring semester. The Faculty Senate will set the deadline for these reports and provide committees with at least two weeks' notice of this deadline. In addition, the Faculty Senate or the committee itself may request an oral presentation of the report to the full Faculty at the last Senate-called faculty meeting of the spring semester.

2.8 Policy deliberation. Two-way communication with constituent groups is essential for effective shared governance; thus, before an elected standing committee presents a policy or procedure issue for a faculty vote, the following processes shall be followed:

- a. The proposed policy or procedure will be presented in writing and discussed with bodies that will be affected substantially by the policy or procedure. (These could include, but are not limited to, the Departments, Deans and Chairs, the graduate faculty, the stations, or other units.)
- b. Faculty representatives on elected standing committees shall report committee action to their Departments, through e-mail, or at Department meetings, in a timely manner. As appropriate, the faculty representative should obtain faculty opinion so that the representative's actions and decisions are informed by the unit represented.
- c. Prior to presenting a policy or procedure for a vote at a College-wide faculty meeting, elected standing committees shall submit the policy for consideration and further action by the Faculty Senate as specified in Bylaws Art. II, Sect. 11.1 a.vi-vii.

d. A committee may send an issue to the full faculty if there is a 2/3 vote by the full committee membership to do so. The Senate then will forward this issue to the faculty as a discussion item, not a voting item, and the faculty will decide whether to pursue the issue.

e. The policy document presented for a College-wide faculty vote shall indicate the dates on which the policy was submitted to the appropriate bodies and the Faculty Senate.

2.9 Overlapping committee functions. At times, the interests and functions of committees may overlap. The following steps should be taken to reach a consensus on how to address the overlapping interest.

a. The chairs of overlapping standing committees will meet to discuss the appropriate manner to proceed and try to reach a resolution.

b. A representative of one of the affected standing committees may present the overlapping issue at the other affected committee's meeting.

c. A joint meeting of both affected committees may take place to address the overlapping matter.

d. If no resolution is achieved through these steps, then the chairs of the affected committees will consult the Faculty Senate.

2.10 Student members of committees. Where an undergraduate student is required to serve on a College committee, that student shall serve for a term of one academic year. Where a graduate student is required to serve on a College committee, that student shall be elected or appointed by the Graduate Students in Mass Communication Association (GSMCA), for a term of one academic year. The committee chair shall ensure that the appropriate students are informed of their obligation to designate a representative on the committee.

2.11 Faculty members not elected to a committee. A list of faculty members who are not nominated by the Election Committee to serve on a University-mandated committee, Faculty Senate or standing committee shall be forwarded to the Executive Associate Dean and the Department Chairs by the Election Committee. The Executive Associate Dean and the Department Chairs shall assign comparable service obligations to these faculty members during the year.

Section 3. Subcommittees

Each standing committee may use its own discretion to form a subcommittee to work on specific issues that are related to the committee's specific mission, as described below in Bylaws Article II, Section 11 (Non-University-mandated standing committees).

Section 4. Task forces

Task forces may be created and appointed by the Dean or Faculty Senate to address issues that are not readily addressed by existing standing committees and their specific missions, as described below in Bylaws Article II, Section 11 (Non-University-mandated standing committees). In principle, task forces should follow the general rules for standing committees as described above in Bylaws Article II, Section 2 (General rules).

Section 5. Elections for committees and the Faculty Senate

5.1 Eligibility for Committees. Elections for University-mandated committees, Faculty Senate and College standing committees shall be conducted annually. For University-mandated committees, the College must meet membership requirements for particular faculty ranks and Department representation.

5.2 Election Committee of the Faculty Senate. The Faculty Senate shall appoint annually an Election Committee, consisting of one senior senator from each Department and the Executive Associate Dean. The committee shall select its own chair. This committee is responsible for preparing all nominations, all slates and all ballots for committee elections, conducting all voting, and announcing the results to the faculty.

5.3 Elections for University-mandated committees, the Faculty Senate and standing committees. The Election Committee shall seek faculty members' committee preferences through an electronic self-nomination process and shall create a ballot for election to all University-mandated committees, election to the Faculty Senate and election to standing committees. Creation of this ballot shall follow current University Policy, and applicable to the Faculty Senate, it shall also follow the College Bylaws Article II, Section 11.1.b (Composition of the Faculty Senate).

- a. This ballot must be completed two weeks prior to the elections for all committees.
- b. The Election Committee chair shall inform the faculty at large about the elections via electronic notice.
- c. If University Policy requires nominations for a particular committee, those nominations shall occur over a period of no less than one week, prior to the ballot's completion.
- d. The Election Committee shall assemble a slate for each University mandated committee, the Faculty Senate and standing committee. All slates may appear on one ballot. If any member of the faculty wishes to contest the ballot, he or she must do so in a timely manner, in writing, to the chair of the Faculty Senate and the chair of the Election Committee.
- e. Voting and results. These elections shall be conducted by electronic ballot, with the Election Committee tallying the votes. For each committee seat, the person with the most votes wins the seat. Election results shall be announced electronically to faculty members. All elections shall be held in accordance with the laws of the State of Florida that govern public meetings as well as University Policy.

5.4 Elections for all committees. These elections are preceded by a nomination procedure. The Election Committee shall inform the faculty at large about the nomination process via written notice and shall accept nominations from the faculty for open seats on the elected committees of the College over a period of no less than one week.

a. Each faculty member, as defined by Constitution Art. III, Sect. 1.1 and 1.2, will self-nominate to be considered for all committee openings. If a faculty member chooses not to self-nominate for any committee, the Election Committee shall nominate that faculty member for one or more committees.

b. The Election Committee will assemble a single document, hereafter called the slate, showing the nominees for all elected committees. Each committee will have its own list of nominees, consisting of one person listed for each open position. Any seat that is left empty shall follow the protocol set forth in Bylaws Art. II, Sect. 8. The nominees shall be listed in alphabetical order along with the person's corresponding unit or Department represented under the committee name.

c. Terms of office. Unless otherwise specified, elected members of standing committees shall serve for a term of two years and until their successors have been elected and take office. All terms shall start at the beginning of the fall semester. There are no term limits unless otherwise specified by University Policy or elsewhere in this Constitution or Bylaws. All terms of office shall be established on a rotating basis such that no more than half of the committee members are newly elected yearly.

d. Election calendar. Elections shall be held during spring semester. Elections may be held during a meeting of the College faculty wherein the Election Committee's presentation of the final ballot is an agenda item. The Faculty Senate shall announce and conduct such meeting in accordance with the College Constitution (Art. II, Sect. 4, Meetings of the full faculty).

e. Voting and results. The vote on the final ballot may be conducted either electronically or by a voice vote at a meeting of the faculty, and a simple majority shall carry. The most current version of Robert's Rules of Order Newly Revised shall be consulted and followed regarding the election of a slate of representatives, including but not limited to how to handle nominations from the floor and how to elect a partial slate. The Election Committee shall ratify the results.

5.5 Election of the special advisory committee in Dean searches. When a special advisory committee is to be elected to represent the faculty in the selection of the Dean (in accordance with University Policy and Art. III, Sect. 3.5 in the College Constitution), the Election Committee shall solicit suggestions for nominees from each department to serve on that committee. If it is impractical to hold this election in conjunction with a regular election, then the Faculty Senate will determine when and how such election will be held.

5.6 Eligibility. Any member of the faculty shall be eligible for nomination to the elected standing committees, under the following conditions:

- a. The Dean, Executive Associate Dean, and the Department Chairs in the College shall not be eligible for elected positions.
- b. Persons who are not members of the faculty may be eligible under conditions defined in Art. III, Sect. 1 of the College Constitution (Membership of the faculty).
- c. Eligibility requirements for University-mandated committees are set by University Policy and not by the College.

Section 6. Election of chair and vice-chair of standing committees

6.1 Chair The UF-mandated committees, the Faculty Senate and faculty standing committee chairs shall be elected by their respective committee members unless otherwise specified in the Bylaws or by University Policy. The term of the chair shall be one academic year.

6.2 Chair-elect. The Faculty Senate chair-elect shall be elected by their respective Faculty Senate members unless otherwise specified in these Bylaws or by University Policy. The vice-chair shall serve for one academic year and then become chair of the Faculty Senate for the following academic year. Only Faculty Senate members who are not serving the last year of their second three-year term shall be eligible to become chair-elect.

Section 7. Who does not serve on college committees

First-year faculty members who are untenured or who hold a lecturer or equivalent faculty rank position may not serve on a College committee during their first academic year or, if the faculty member's employment starts midyear, will not serve during the first spring semester only.

Section 8. Vacancies on committees

If a seat or seats on a committee are empty, the committee chair shall first approach the Department Chair if the empty seat is allocated to that department and ask for a replacement. In other cases, or if the Department Chair is unable to provide a replacement, the committee shall find a solution and present it to the Faculty Senate for further action. Exceptions to these rules are the Faculty Senate, University Senate, Tenure and Promotion, Sabbatical, or any other University-mandated committee, seats on which shall be filled by a special election under the direction of the Faculty Senate.

Section 9. Sunsetting committees

The Faculty Senate will monitor committee activities and may call for the disbanding or restructuring of a committee. The committees will also monitor their own activity. In the event that a majority of the committee members recommend disbanding or restructuring, the committee members will take the issue to the Faculty Senate for verting and further action. All restructuring and disbanding of committees must go before the faculty and pass with a simple majority at a regular or special meeting of the full faculty.

Section 10. Creating new committees

If two or more members of the faculty consider a new committee to be needed, the role that the new committee would fill will be described in written form and submitted to the Faculty Senate for discussion and further action.

Section 11 Non-University-mandated standing committees

After the first item about the Faculty Senate below, all committees are listed in alphabetical order. Unless otherwise specified below, only elected members on a committee are voting members. Unless otherwise specified below, members of a committee shall elect the committee chair.

11.1 Faculty Senate

a. Duties

- i. Provide an official faculty body for representing the College faculty on issues of concern with the university administration.
- ii. Meet at least monthly with the administration.
- iii. Recommend policies to the Dean and other administrative bodies.
- iv. In consultation with the administration, develop a process for resolution of conflict between the faculty and the administration.
- v. Develop a process for actively soliciting input from the faculty.
- vi. Receive, consider, refer, and approve matters submitted in writing to the Senate including recommendations from standing committees, special committees, or individual faculty members.
